Center Here Reducing Death Toll in Crashes

St. Elizabeth Hospital's expanding role as a regional center for treatment of the seriously injured was cited at ceremonies here Tuesday afternoon dedicating the hospital's new trauma center.

Mrs. Richard B. Ogilvie, wife of the governor of Illinois, told a large outdoor gathering that “the 40-center trauma network of which you are a part is the first of its kind in the nation.”

“In the first year, over 14,000 accident victims have been treated, most of them being taken directly from the crash scene to a trauma center.”

“Governor Ogilvie attributes the fact that he lived through World War II to the emergency hospital care he received on the battlefield. Certainly, the know-how that can save lives of combat soldiers also should be utilized to save accident victims at home.”

Dr. David R. Boyd, chief of the Division of Emergency Medical Services and Highway Safety, Illinois Department of Public Health, reported that the St. Elizabeth Hospital Trauma Center already is handling 150 to 175 cases each month and the volume is likely to grow to 250.

A state helicopter was present to illustrate the increasing scope of air evacuation of critically ill as well as injured persons.

Dr. Boyd told the Press-Record that the state also is giving much attention to ambulance service, particularly in communities where funeral homes have stopped operating ambulances.

Although the trauma centers in Alton, Granite City, East St. Louis and Belleville are closer to each other than such centers in most other areas of Downstate Illinois, their designation was justified by the population concentration and by the auto accident volume, he related.

“Through prompt and comprehensive medical - hospital services, the trauma program has proven its worth by increasing the percentage of badly injured who survive. Illinois also has reduced its traffic fatality rate at a time when most states have a worsening toll,” Dr. Boyd said.

The key to a successful trauma plan is the assignment of top priority to it by a state's chief executive, he commented, citing economies which are being realized in Illinois through cooperation with other departments within the state government.

The dedication took place on the St. Elizabeth Hospital main area near the new emergency room entrance, on the former Iowa Street right-of-way.

A plaque symbolizing the creation of the local trauma center was presented by Mrs. Ogilvie to C. E. Townsend, Press - Record publisher who is vice-president of the hospital's governing board.

Attorney Leo H. Konzen, president of the lay advisory board of St. Elizabeth Hospital, served as master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by the Rev. Frank Christ, president of the local Ministerial Alliance.

Those introduced included Dr. Lawrence Aronberg of the hospital medical staff; Ted Ederman, assistant administrator; Sister M. Frances of the Sisters of Divine Providence, who operate the hospital; and Bob Miller, trauma coordinator.

Mrs. Ogilvie and Mrs. Margaret L. president of the Hospital Auxiliary, participated in a reception line after the speaking program. Refreshments were served under the emergency room canopy.

Dental School Dedicated

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer
Dignified joy was the mood that predominated Tuesday afternoon at the official dedication ceremonies for the new Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine on the former Shurtleff College campus at Alton.

The scheduled dedication speaker, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, was unable to attend due to bronchitis but sent the lady of the state to read his planned address.

“It would be difficult to exaggerate the importance of this dental school for the state,” she said. “There are vast areas of Central and Southern Illinois in desperate need of dental services.” Mrs. Ogilvie said, adding that the opening of the SIUE dental school will help correct the problem.

Addressees Students
She addressed the 24 initial students of the facility, including four students from Granite City, telling them, “Illinois needs your services, your dedication, your skills.”

Granite City students attending are Stephen M. Conway, John Joseph Uram, Randall David Bell and Mark S. Friedrich. The latter has just moved to O’Fallon and is a native of Granite City.

Bel challenged his fellow students and himself to “become the very best practicing dentists that we can be. In this way, we can repay the people of Illinois for their investment in us and in this institution.” “We have the opportunity to develop this school into one of the most renowned in the country,” he said.

“Our class of 24 is representative of all parts of the state. Most graduates establish practice near the area of their training.”

“With the 1969 closing of the St. Louis University Dental School, civic leaders here saw that something must be done to avoid a critical health problem,” Bell said.

They responded by building the SIUE dental school, a “new and innovative” program which will provide the best possible training, he concluded.

More than 100 guests, including state senators and representatives, area dentists, officials of dental societies and members of the SIUE Board of Trustees, attended.

Mrs. Ogilvie Honored
They also heard Dean Frank Sobkowski and SIUE President John Rendleman. Dr. Sobkowski presented Mrs. Ogilvie with a lapel pin, designating her and the governor “charter members of the dental school family.” Dr. Rendleman also gave a plaque to Mrs. Ogilvie commemorating the occasion.

Dr. Sobkowski said the dental school will be the state outside of Cook County, will begin repaying Illinois for its commitment when the first class graduates in three years. Illinois has about 6,000 dentists but three-fourths are practicing in the Chicago metropolitan area, leaving a shortage in the remainder of the state. Half of the dentists in the state are over the age of 55, indicating a more serious problem.

Dr. Frank Sobkowski, dean of the Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine, presents Mrs. Richard Ogilvie with a charter member lapel pin Tuesday at ceremonies at the Alton SIUE center. Mrs. Ogilvie represented her husband, the governor, at the dedication because he was confined to bed with bronchitis. The dental school, the first in Illinois outside of Cook County, opened with its first class of students Sept. 11.

Approve Drainage for New Store

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Construction of a new K-Mart Store at a cost exceeding $1.5 million will get underway at the rear of 3701 Nameoki Road within the next two weeks, developers of the project announced yesterday following City Council action rezoning part of the tract which the building will occupy.

Council members approved rezoning of 6.5 acres of the tract to a C-2 (commercial) classification Monday night after they received a report of the city engineer in favor of a plan for disposing of storm water drainage from the store area.

The K-Mart store, which will have 35,000 square feet of floor space in a building 390 feet long and 245 feet wide, will be built on a tract of 13 acres near Biederman's furniture store and Tri-Mor Bowl. The building will front toward Nameoki Road.

Henry Ross of Granite City, general contractor for the construction work, said yesterday that preliminary preparation of the tract will start Monday with dismantling of the large side. Construction work is scheduled to start a week later.

The new store is being constructed by E. N. Maisel & Associates of Oak Park, Ill., developers for K-Mart Stores. A representative of the developing firm said the K-Mart Store is expected to generate a business of $5.5 to $9 million per year.

A petition for rezoning of the 6.5-acre tract was filed with the city July 24 and was referred to the City Plan Commission.

Following a public hearing Aug. 10, the plan commission recommended that the council approve the rezoning, necessary to construct the K-Mart building.

While council members approved the project, they withheld final approval of the plan until the city engineer's commission recommendation at that time, pending an engineer's check of drainage facilities, noting that drainage from the new development might overload stormwater drainage facilities in the area.

Engineers for the development firm presented to Edward Juneau of the Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab engineering firm, serving as city engineer, a proposal to construct a holding pond into which stormwater would drain from the store area during heavy rains.

This would back the increased volume of drainage until the regular stormwater lines were cleared. The water then would be pumped from the holding pond into the regular stormwater lines.

Juneau, in a report to the council Monday night, said this plan would not increase the drainage load of existing lines and therefore should not be cause to hold up the project.

The council accepted Juneau's report and, on a motion by Alderman Frank Greenwald, approved the report of the City Plan Commission granting the rezoning.

Juneau's report said that the holding pond will handle 124,260 cubic feet of drainage water, which is sufficient to also provide a similar system of drainage for the Schuck's-Carp's Development which is proposed for construction in the 3800 and 3900 blocks of Nameoki Road.

Don Golden, president of Golden & Co., Kansas City, Mo., developers of the Schuck's-Carp's project, said, however, that his firm is preparing a new drainage proposal for the Schuck's-Carp's development.

This plan will be presented to the City Council for approval in its Oct. 16 meeting, Golden said.

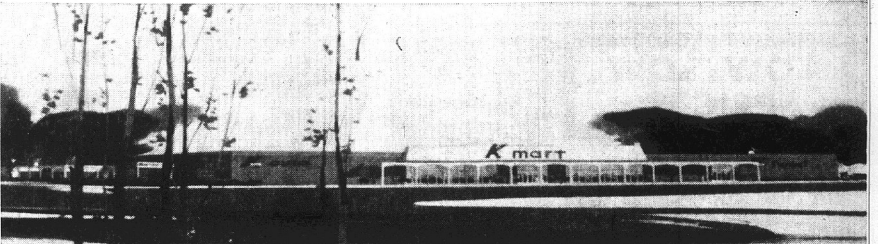

He added that construction plans have been completed for the Schuck's-Carp's project, which also will include a Walgreen Drug Store and other stores.

Bids will be sought as soon as the drainage problem can be worked out.

“We'll be ready to start construction if the drainage plan gets a go-ahead from the council,” Golden said.

PASSENGER INJURED

A collision of autos driven by Erwin A. Porter, 2810 Denver St., and Jack A. Koval, Glen Carbon, resulted in injuries suffered by Elizabeth Koval, 77, of Glen Carbon, a passenger, at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday at Edwardsville and Nameoki roads.

NEW K-MART STORE to be constructed on the rear of 3701 Nameoki Road at a cost exceeding $1.5 million. Construction is to start in the next two weeks, following this week's City Council approval of drainage plans. Included in the department store are garden and auto centers on the left and a food section at the right.

Seek Bids on Treatment Plant

A call for bids for construction of Granite City's second sewage treatment plant was authorized by the City Council Monday night and the resolution authorizing the lease for the treatment plant for upgrading sewage treatment.

The council at the same time authorized a lease between the city and the U.S. Government for 20 acres of land adjoining the city's present primary treatment plant on the Granite City Army installation grounds. The new treatment plant will be located on the 20-acre site.

The effort to speed up the timetable for complying with state and federal requirements for secondary sewage treatment hit a snag shortly after the meeting when Mayor Donald Partney, who was not present at Monday night's session, announced he will veto the resolution authorizing the lease for the treatment plant.

Partney said the rental of $550 per month for the city's present 14-acre plant site and the 20-acre site is “out of the question.”

The mayor said he has been negotiating an agreement with the General Services Administration at Omaha, Neb., under which there will be no charge for the additional 20 acres of Army installation land sought by the city.

The proposed new lease Monday with Harry Brown of the GSA at Omaha and that arrangements had been completed for obtaining the additional land under an agreement that would cost the city only the $133 monthly rental it now pays for the 14-acre tract on which the primary treatment plant is located.

The call for bids and approval of the Army site lease were authorized by the council Monday night to meet an October 15 deadline for certain procedures necessary to confirmation of state and federal grant applications.

For this reason, Mayor Partney said, a special meeting of the council will be necessary to approve a revised lease agreement which he intends to present. The next regularly scheduled council meeting would not be held until Oct. 16, a day after the deadline.

Bids for construction of the new treatment plant were called for public opening at 2 p.m. Nov. 15 at the office of City Clerk Robert Stevens. The bid advertisement is published as a legal notice elsewhere in this issue of the Press-Record.

Specifications Ready
The bid call was authorized after a letter from M.W., Inc., Architects and Engineers, St. Louis, the city's engineers for the project recommended the

Nod to Illinois Airport After Election—Percy

U. S. Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois predicted Tuesday that an Illinois site for a new major St. Louis metropolitan area airport will be selected, but not until after the Nov. 7 general election.

Percy, speaking in Washington, D.C., said, "I would be very surprised if any site other than the Illinois one is selected."

His speculation on the timing of the selection disagrees with a statement issued in August by U.S. Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, who predicted selection of a site before Nov. 7.

The Missouri-St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority is expected to announce its choice of a Missouri site next week. Meanwhile, R. E. Krontz, district engineer for the Illinois Department of Transportation, denied charges by some Missouri officials and newspapers that his department had selected the tentative route for a new freeway from East St. Louis to Carbondale based upon predictions of an Illinois airport location.

Krontz said the proposed extension of Route 3 to the Interstate-70 and 55 bridge, a new one-mile section of freeway west of Columbia, and a $110 million canalization project on the Kaskaskia River navigation project were the primary considerations in selecting the tentative route.

Congressional Seniority System Under Attack Again

By MICHAEL O'CONNOR
Cape News Service

Washington—Bumper strips are not out yet nor are the related pieces of promotional material necessary to get the point across.

But a new slogan is expected to emerge in Washington after Election Day, 1972. It is: "Think Four."

Founders of the "Think Four" movement are members of Congress now making efforts to end the House and Senate seniority system.

Their creed is that by 1976 enough years may be in place to eliminate the system and place congressmen and senators in committee chairmanships on merit rather than tenure.

Many believe, however, that 1976 is a more than optimistic goal.

Those pushing the effort to abolish seniority note that if the effort is successful it could far overshadow any infighting between Democrats and Republicans over selection of a president. Reformers argue that an overhaul in Congress would produce far more changes in federal law than any that could be conceived by an incumbent or would-be resident at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave.

Abolishing House-Senate seniority is not taken lightly by either party.

Leaders of the anti-seniority bloc are centered in the Democratic Study Group, an advocacy body in Capitol Hill comprised entirely of liberal Democrats.

Coalition Necessary

The DSG contends that abolition of the seniority system is possible within four years. But they say the trick will only be turned by a coalition of younger members of Congress from both parties.

DSG analysts pose an interesting theory on this point. They note a rule which states a speaker of the House must be elected by a majority vote of members. Since a party in control has the necessary votes, these elections every two years are considered academic.

However, they say the turnover in House membership is more rapid. There will be 41 new members of the House this year based only on retirements, resignations and deaths.

The DSG contention is that any freshman member of Congress—whether he be liberal Democrat or conservative Republican—will be sympathetic to reform designed at improving his or her chances of performing in Washington.

What it boils down to is the recognized fact that by 1976, the majority of "new" members of Congress (those here less than eight years) will be nearing a majority necessary to elect a speaker.

Democratic and Republican sources said the theory is not far-fetched.

All conceded any takeover of the House leadership by insurgent Democrats—with GOP assistance—would require some type of compromise on benefits.

The compromise could come in a promise by the new speaker—presumably a Democrat—that Republicans would be given chairmanships of many of the House subcommittees.

This action would be the biggest break in House tradition in more than 60 years. By current House procedures, the majority party names all officers from the speaker on down and gives chairmanships and subcommittee roles only to senior members.

The reformers, despite outward energy and better organization, are nevertheless facing a fact of life about seniority which Lyndon Johnson once laid down:

"I know you young fellows don't like the seniority system. But the longer years are around here, the better you will like it."

Cash, Checks Stolen From Doctor's Office

Cash and checks totaling $1,800 were stolen in a burglary of the offices of Dr. E. Gale Jones, 26th Street and Grand Avenue, it was reported today at 5:35 a.m. today. Entry was gained by breaking a basement window, and intruders used water pipes to pull themselves over a metal frame.

All cabinets and drawers in the office were ransacked, but it was unknown if any drugs were taken. A bank bag containing cash and checks totaling $1,800 was taken from a metal cabinet in the laboratory and $100.65 in cash was taken from the same cabinet which was priced open.

SCHOOL BURLIGERIZED

Nothing apparently was missing in a burglary of the Old Logan School, 2629 W. 24th St., during the night, it was reported at 7:10 a.m. today. Entry was gained by opening a window. File cabinets and desks had been left unlocked. The only damage occurred in the boiler room where eggs were broken in an ice box and two or three were thrown on the floor.

WATERWEEDS IN PONDS

Waterweeds and pond scum can be controlled without killing the fish or tampering with the normal ecology.

Waterweed control with chemicals and proper management depends on seasonal operations to predict the growth and prudent treatment before the problem becomes acute.

Summer treatment requires more skill to predict the extent of the problem, product to use and effect on the pond.

Ten years of research on control of aquatic weeds in Illinois are incorporated in a new publication, "Aquatic Weeds, their Identification and Control," Fisheries Bulletin #4, from the Department of Conservation.

Proper identification of the weed species is the key to success. Early season treatment produces better results when the plants are tender and small.

Later season treatment is risky because of critical oxygen levels in the water. Maturing weeds in August use up oxygen instead of producing it. Late season treatment can kill fish when the dying weeds release the oxygen.

Floating weeds are easier to kill because smaller amounts of chemicals are required and volume (cubic feet) is involved.

If you want to begin a management program, visit your local Cooperative Extension Service office and review a copy of Fisheries Bulletin #4 before you begin to work on weed identification.

Judges Kinney, Meyer to Retire; Name Successors

Successors to two circuit judges in the Third Judicial District who plan to retire Dec. 4 have been appointed by the Granite City Supreme Court.

They are Victor J. Mosele, Alton attorney, to succeed Chief Judge Michael Kinney of Wood River, on the Madison County bench, and Bond County State's Atty. John L. Delaure, to fill the vacancy created by Foss D. Meyer in Greenville.

Kinney, 63, has served on the bench 24 years, and Meyer, 64, has served as a judge 18 years. Both are former county judges who became circuit judges under the terms of the 1970 Illinois Constitution.

Mosele, 47, and Delaure, 39, are presidents of their respective county bar associations. They will serve until 1974 when they may be candidates at a partisan ticket for election. Kinney, Mosele and Delaure are Democrats and Meyer is a Republican.

There was speculation that R. W. Griffith, Madison County State's attorney, would be called to the vacancy, but he did not apply for the vacancy. He may run for the post in the 1974 election.

RED SPIDERS ON MARIGOLDS

At the onset of fall and mottling of the upper leaves of marigolds is often due to red spiders.

Normal flowers with mottled and gray foliage is typical of red spiders on marigolds while yellow and greenish flowers are symptoms of a virus. Both are a disaster to marigolds but red spiders can be controlled.

Red spiders are minute pests that feed on the leaves of many trees, shrubs, flowers and vegetables. They are usually active creatures about the size of specks of pepper. In spite of their small size, red spiders can cause serious damage to plants.

Disagreement on Way Work Schedules Are Decided Upon

The way work schedules are decided upon is a central issue in a grievance proposed by United Steelworkers officers at Granite City Steel Co.

Looming large in the background are such questions as whether the plant could operate profitably if it consistently had production volume exceeding shifts a week and paid week-end overtime, whether there is a shift scheduling "escape clause" which can be invoked under extreme conditions, and whether such conditions have been reached.

The issue was dormant in the past because production orders were fewer. Now that Granite City is a part of National Steel Corp. and the latter could utilize an increased volume of products, Granite City cost and production aspects have become a matter of dispute.

Non-scheduled shifts need to be jointly agreed upon by union officers said today. They feel the question cannot be raised until the existing contract, which expires in August 1974.

Last Saturday, 61 men declined to report, and were given staggered five-day disciplinary layoffs, leading to the decision to file a grievance. Repetition could escalate the dispute, it is felt.

A union spokesman said the primary point is that "our members were exercising their rights to not work on days we do not have an agreed-upon schedule." Present practices have existed since 1958, he stressed.

He said the company gave notification yesterday that it would operate the practical meeting of members of Local 67 is planned for today to discuss the notification.

A company spokesman verified at noon today that "some employees were disciplined for refusing to operate the 80-hour hot strip mill on turns scheduled by the company."

The turn was scheduled to provide necessary production for Granite City Steel customers, and the loss of the steel would have been produced on these turns caused other employees at Granite City Steel on production units follow-through. Shift mill to subsequently lose work.

The company's scheduling of the turn was a proper management function under the labor agreement between Granite City Steel Co. and the United Steelworkers of America, the company spokesman said.

KEEP BABY IN PLAYPEN HAPPY

Although playpens offer convenience for the mother, make sure that the baby is equally satisfied with the playpen arrangement.

Follow these suggestions to make the playpen a happy place for your baby:

—Don't wait until the baby has had the freedom of crawling out of the house before you introduce him to the playpen. Start putting him in the pen when he's about four months old.

—Play with the baby frequently once he's in the pen. Don't simply ignore him just because he's quiet.

—Don't leave your baby in the pen for long periods of time when he fusses to get out. Take him out before he becomes restless.

FIRST GRAIN SHIPMENT from the Tri-City Regional Port under two new contracts negotiated by Bulk Service Corp. is being loaded this week. The 21,000 tons of locally grown wheat will require the loading of 13 barges. The contracts provide for shipment of from 400,000 to 500,000 tons of grain from Central and Southern Illinois this year.

Port Bustles With Activity as Major Grain Shipments Begin

The first shipment of grain under two new contracts negotiated by Bulk Service Corp. is being loaded into barges at the Tri-City Regional Port this week.

The 13 barges, being loaded with 21,000 tons of locally-grown wheat, make up the first shipment under two new contracts negotiated in the last two months by Bulk Service, which will provide for shipments of from 400,000 to 500,000 tons of grain each year from Granite City. Ed Anderson, general manager of Bulk Service, announced this week.

The one-year contracts will boost total bulk shipments from the port from the present 100,000 to 150,000 tons to as high as 700,000 tons, Anderson indicated.

Shipments of wheat and wheat pellets earlier this summer were trial runs to determine the cost of the operation before bidding on the contracts, he disclosed.

The grain grown in Central and Southern Illinois will be brought here for shipment. Anderson declined to identify the companies involved in the contracts.

The Bulk Service staff here was increased from six to 10 full-time workers Tuesday when the shipments began. The company is contemplating further increases in the staff to fulfill the contract, Anderson said. The present shipment is expected to be loaded by Tuesday.

Drinking-Driving Slide Program Offered by State

"Drinking, Driving, And You" is the name of a new sound-on-slide program released to Illinois State police information and education officers, Superintendent James T. McGuire announced.

This 12-minute, 36-slide presentation will be used for public programs to educate the citizens of Illinois about the Illinois Implied Consent Law which became effective Oct. 1. Captain Daniel L. O'Brien, director of the Information and Education Section, advised that any persons wishing to avail themselves of this service should contact the nearest Illinois State Police District Headquarters or Sub-Post.

Troopers William Simpson and James Gallo are handling the program at the district State Police Headquarters at Maryville.

Drink/Drive Calculators prepared by Governor Ogilvie's Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee will be available for free distribution. This device allows an individual to approximate the amount of alcohol contained in his blood after consuming alcoholic beverages. Everyone should take advantage of this offer to learn about the Implied Consent Law," Major Albert S. Hinds, Field Operations Commander, said.

"We would much rather have the drivers of Illinois educate themselves to obey the law rather than to have to arrest them, especially for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquids."

City Council members approved in regular meeting Monday night a motion to hire a crossing guard to be stationed in front of Parkway School, 2200 Maryville Road, after petitions bearing 296 signatures requesting the appointment were received by the aldermen.

Approval of the motion followed lengthy discussion in which Alderman Emerald Daves said that Granite City School District should share half of the expense of the guard's salary.

Daves moved that the guard be appointed with a request to be made of the school district that it share in the salary.

School Superintendent B. J. Davis explained later, however, that the school district is restricted by state law from paying salaries of guards stationed within the city limits. He said the district can only pay for guards stationed outside the corporate limits, and that the district does employ two crossing guards in Mitchell and one farther out on Maryville Road.

Warriors to Seek 2nd Loop Victory at Alton Saturday

The Granite City High School football Warriors will travel to meet the Alton Redbirds in their second Southwestern Conference game Saturday at 1 p.m.

Fresh with a taste of conference victory after the defeat of Edwardsville 21-7 in their opening conference tilt last week, the football Warriors want that conference title.

When the two teams met last season the battle to a 0-0 tie. Alton is 1-2, losing to Quincy 20-0 and Belleville West 27-0, before blanking Cahokia 13-0 last week.

The fastest Redbird was taken out of action last week when junior halfback Neil Lockhart was injured. Alton officials do not expect him to play against the Warriors.

Warrior fans and players should keep an eye on Steve Shust, 6-1, 215 senior who plays both offense and defense. He is a strong blocker and leading tackle.

Another Redbird that goes both ways is Bryan Joehle, 6-0, 175 senior linebacker who doubles as left halfback.

Top receiver for the Alton gridirers is Bob Meyer, 5-11, 165 senior who plays defensive back and split end.

Bob Davis, a non-letter 150, 5-9 quarterback, is rapidly taking shape. Against Cahokia he completed five of seven passes for 85 yards.

Norm Iman, Alton mentor, said, "I have watched Granite play and am impressed with its offense and quickness. We are going to concentrate on stopping the running attack and I have some men who can do it. It's going to be a tough game. Granite is very well coached by (Wayne) Williams. He knows what he's doing."

The Alton team has 10 returning lettermen but is fielding only four of them.

On offense the Redbirds use a pro style split end and the wing T. They have good line-backing and use the Notre Dame 4-4.

"Alton has some real potential and has always been a tough team to contend with," Warrior Coach Williams commented.

"Our defense will have to keep their minds on the game. I show some real improvement if we are going to beat Alton," Williams said. "The offense is doing a good job but we have a long way to go on defense. Although we have the players to do the job, they just need to concentrate on what they are doing."

Changes in the defensive line-up may be made both before and after the Alton game, according to Williams.

Granite City is 2-1 overall, edging Riverview Gardens, Mo., 8-7 in the opener, then losing to O'Fallon 28-20.

The Warriors play at home at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 13, against Collinsville.

Madison Faces Tough, Fast Sparta Defense Saturday

The Madison High School football Trojans, host to the Sparta Bulldogs at 2 p.m. Saturday, will face a big, strong and fast defense.

The front four on the Bulldog 4-4 defense are Ken Kloth, 6-2, 215; Don Rountree, 6-2, 275; Brian Reid, 6-2, 215; and Bill McIntyre, 6-1, 185. All are returning senior lettermen.

"The front four defensive players are all big, fast and tough," Gary Shopp, Sparta coach, claims.

"Our trouble so far this year has not been our defense, but we have had an inexperienced offense which I believe is starting to jell."

In a driving rain storm last Friday the Sparta Bulldogs blanked Nashville 12-0 after losing their openers to Benton 20-7 and DuQuoin 30-0.

The Bulldog defense has intercepted seven passes in the past two games.

Shopp is coaching the Bulldogs for the first time this season, having been at Breese Mater Dei last year the Bulldogs were 2-7.

The school enrollment is 743. Injuries hurt the Bulldogs early in the season as they were without two of their starting backfield, but everyone will be ready for Madison, the mentor said.

The toughest Bulldog, according to Shopp, is center, a 5-10, 165 junior named Norm Harton.

Trojan Fundamentals
"We are going to re-group and run back to fundamentals," Madison Coach Al Vander Haar said. "Against Assumption our players just seemed to forget their assignments. When you run an option you not double team anyone or you're out numbered."

"After this Saturday we have an open date and that will give us two weeks to get back into shape for the rest of the season," the coach said. "If our pride hasn't been hurt too much we could bounce back and win a few more."

The Trojans are now 1-2. Madison's next game will be at home against Mater Dei at 2 p.m. Oct. 21.

Golfing Cougars Set for Tourney

Coach Harry Gallatin's Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville golf team, fresh from winning the Central Missouri State College best ball tournament last Saturday and an eighth-place finish in the MacMurray College tourney Monday, has one more fall tourney named to go.

The Cougar golfers will complete their fall play by competing in the Illinois State University Invitational at Normal Oct. 13-14.

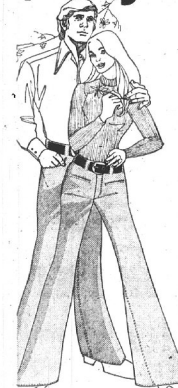

The fall competition, said Gallatin, will decide which players on his 11-man squad will make the trip to Florida at the spring break in March.

Randy Arnett leads the Cougars with a 77.4 stroke average. He's closely followed by Marty Baker, 78.2; Terry Soucek, 78.4; Keith Swindell, 78.5; Doug Macalla, 78.8; Bob Biarkis, 79.0; Mary Kelly, 79.1; Mike Trebing and Rob Johnson, 80.8; Rusty Pierce, 80.8; and Gary Zimmer, 84.6.

In the play at Central Missouri, the Biarkis-Macalla Cougar duo fired best-ball rounds of 36-35 for a 71, and Pierce and Soucek were even better with 67 with rounds of 34-33. Baker and Arnett, putting together rounds of 37 and 35, finished with a 72.

At MacMurray, Arnett and Swindell fired identical 77's and Baker had an 84, Macalla an 85 and Soucek, 89.

Distemper Cases on Upswing in GC Pets

Area veterinarians are expressing concern about the spread of distemper in cats, now believed to be reaching epidemic proportions, and the increasing number of distemper cases diagnosed in dogs.

Several kittens and puppies suffering the effects of the disease and seen by veterinarians in the past two weeks were unable to be helped due to the advanced stages of the ailment. Distemper is communicated through an airborne virus.

Only a few cases of distemper in dogs and none in felines came to the attention of the animal doctors during the summer months, it was learned. The number of cases involving sick animals has increased each week since temperatures have lowered and rainy weather began.

Mrs. Judith Johnson, president of the Quad-City Association for the Protection of Animals, was advised of the distemper problem by veterinarians. She is urging pet owners to have puppies and kittens inoculated to prevent further spread of the disease.

The APA recommends that all kittens receive their first preventive shots by the age of six weeks and puppies their initial distemper inoculation before eight weeks. Immediate steps should be taken by persons whose pets are due or past due for distemper booster shots, Mrs. Johnson advised.

Masked Bandits Take Drugs from GC Store

Two bandits masked with nylon stockings robbed Sheridan's Drug Store, 2301 State St., of narcotics at 4:50 p.m. Wednesday, it was reported to police by Phil Sheridan, proprietor.

Two men entered through the front door and one with a gun approached the drug counter, ordering Sheridan to "get off the telephone" and saying, "You know what I want."

The armed man was given 15 to 20 bottles of various narcotics, but he was particular, specifying, "I want preludin." He was given a bottle of the drug.

mother was standing at the cash register.

After obtaining the narcotics, the armed man ordered Sheridan, his mother and some customers who had entered to go to the basement. As the bandits left the store, one shot was fired.

The holdup occurred as reports circulated that pharmacists in the U. S. are bearing the brunt of a nationwide crackdown on narcotics traffic; with drugs less available from illicit sources, the users are staging burglaries and holdups at drug stores.

The armed man was six feet tall, weighed 190 pounds, had brown hair and was possibly wearing a red sweatshirt; he "seemed very high or nervous."

The second man wore a black sweatshirt and brown trousers and was believed to have a mustache.

Conveyor System Prevents Damage To Steel Coils

Granite City Steel Co. has developed a unique, automated conveyor system to provide greatly improved handling, storage and delivery of hot rolled coils.

Called "Coil Control," the system automatically transports, tracks and inventories bands from the GCS 80-inch hot strip mill to shipping, storage and picking areas.

"The name of the game is to get the right coil to the right place in the right condition at the right time," Robert D. McBride, GCS vice president-operations, explained today.

"With 'Coil Control' we can do that, because each coil is moved directly to its designated storage area by conveyor."

"Coil damage due to additional handling has been eliminated and so have delays in processing orders caused by misplaced coils."

The 80-inch hot strip mill produces hot rolled coils for the company's own customers and finishing departments and also is a substantial supplier of hot bands for National's Midwest Steel Division at Parag, Ind.

The "Coil Control" system is built around a 530-foot conveyor line, a "micro-computer" that permits the tracking of each in-transit coil, and an inventory control system of coils in storage using a data processing computer.

The conveyor line took a year to build, went into operation earlier this year, and is one of the largest capital improvement projects Granite City Steel has completed in recent years.

The coil inventory components are being installed now.

It transports coils of up to 80,000 pounds over two main sections.

The first is a 265-foot double chain line on which coils travel eye-vertical. The second is a 342-foot pallet line which carries coils with the eye in horizontal position.

Coils are removed from the chain conveyors by three walking-beam conveyors and delivered to staging areas.

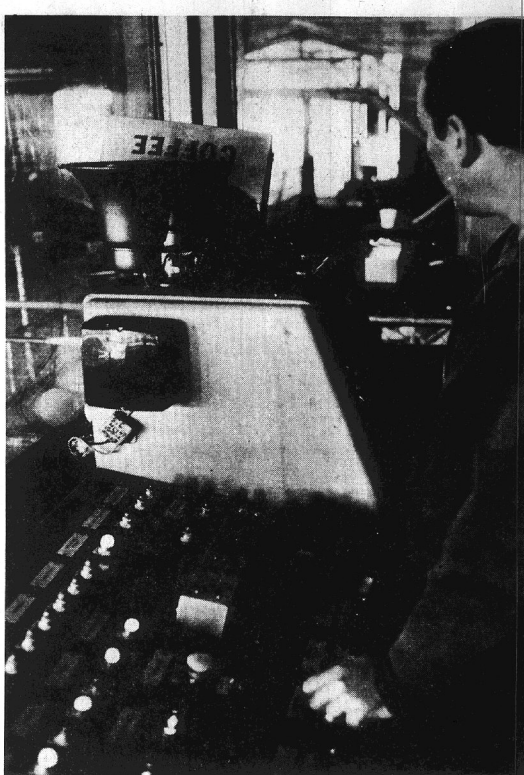

At the first, coils can be diverted to a 72-inch coil processing line or 3/4- and 1/2-inch shear lines. At the second, coils can be removed for banding and shipping. At the third, forklifts remove the coils and transport them either to storage or to the pickle line for further processing in the cold roll department.

Coil status monitoring panels at the conveyor control stations display to the conveyor operator the presence of coils in his section and the walking beam that will remove the coil.

Data input stations at the conveyor desks are used to enter coil identification information to the data processing system for coil storage and retrieval.

MUSICAL ITEMS TAKEN

Music equipment valued at $2,400 was taken from the van of Herb Sadler, 1512 Second St. Madison, parked in Sadler's garage, it was reported at 4 p.m. yesterday. Taken were a guitar, three speaker cabinets and an amplifier.

NEW CONVEYOR SYSTEM. Granite City Steel Company's computerized conveyor system permits control station operators to know at a glance the exact status of hot rolled coils as they move from the 80-inch hot strip mill for further processing, shipping or storage. The 527-foot conveyor has reduced handling-related coil damage while enabling the company to better meet customer delivery needs.

State Public Instruction Sup. Richard Bakalis urged the Illinois Board of Higher Education on Tuesday to set up a task force to study sex discrimination at Illinois universities and colleges.

The Cook County clerk's office was barred temporarily on Tuesday from enforcing a new Illinois law requiring female marriage license applicants to submit to a test for immunity to rubella (German measles). A hearing is set for Oct. 12.

By a 52-34 vote Tuesday, the Senate rejected a liberalized version of President Nixon's welfare reform plan, apparently assuring that this Congress will enact no far-reaching changes in the welfare system.

Republicans mailed over nine million letters to selected voters in Illinois, Pennsylvania, California and New Jersey for receipt yesterday, seeking support on Nov. 7. Mailings are planned later in six other key states.

A Presidential veto of a 20% hike in railroad worker pensions was overridden Wednesday by the House 353-29 and Senate 78-5. It was only the third time that a veto by Mr. Nixon had been overturned. He favored a 10% increase and a six-figure figure could bankrupt the government-run Railroad Retirement Fund.

James L. Donnelly, an Illinois Manufacturers' Association executive for over 40 years, died early Wednesday at Evanston Hospital after a long illness. Executive vice-president from 1928 to 1965, he had been chairman of the executive committee since then. The funeral will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at St. Mary's Church, Evanston.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie yesterday pledged a major expansion of efforts to revitalize life in Illinois small towns and rural areas. A detailed "position paper" cited migration to larger cities as causing upheaval, such as erosion of traditional family values and creation of "ghost towns."

$400 STOLEN FROM COAT
Leroy Pryor, 404 Weaver St., Venice, reported at 12:20 p.m. yesterday that $400 was taken from the pocket of his coat in his closet. He said an additional $230 was left in the pocket.

Two 15-year-old boys from Monrovia, Ind., were arrested by Venice police in the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad yard (formerly the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad) in Venice at 5:05 p.m. yesterday after they allegedly rode on a freight train headed by a 23-year-old freight train. Council Revives, Passes
Bill on Firemen's Pay

A controversial ordinance that permits a longevity pay increase for Granite City firemen, immediately prior to retirement was adopted by a 10 to 4 vote of the City Council Monday night after having been rejected in a previous meeting.

The bill also establishes a base pay for overtime and provides that firemen who work in an advanced rank shall receive the salary that goes with that rank. The measure was defeated by a 6 to 8 vote on a motion to place it on first reading in the Sept. 24 council session.

Aldermen opposing the ordinance protested that a provision under which a fireman's hospitalization insurance payments for last two years be before his retirement shall be added to his pay as a longevity step is a means to obtain a higher pension.

Alderman Sam Whitmer said
"this means that the taxpayer will pay a higher bill for pensions." He said the 1972-73 budget for firemen's pensions amounts to $150,000, and it will grow well beyond that under this kind of an arrangement.

Longevity Pay Boost
The ordinance specifies that when a fireman notifies the city 75 days in advance of his retirement, the city shall add the amount of his hospitalization insurance paid by the city to the fireman's salary as a longevity step for the last two months of his employment.
Whitmer brought out that this would result in a higher salary
pension is based.

Alderman William Dallas resisted the ordinance with a motion for reconsideration which carried by a vote of 10 to 4 with all 14 aldermen present. A motion to rescind the action of the previous meeting followed.
It carried also by a 10 to 4 vote.

Whitmer was unsuccessful in a motion to amend the ordinance eliminating the pay increase.

The same vote 10 to 4 was cast on a motion by Dallas for final passage of the ordinance, with Aldermen Whitmer, Walter Norn, Steve Basarich and Emerald waves voting against the measure.

Those voting in favor of the bill were Aldermen Dallas, Everson, Green, Clyde Green,
Clyde Boyd, Roy Poulos, Gerald Parnley, R. E. Robertson,
Paul Schuler, Thomas Boker and Frank Greenwood.

Anthropology Books Written by SIUE Prof

Two books written by Ernest L. Schusky, chairman of the department of anthropology of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, are being released in second editions by their publishers.

"A Manual for Kinship Analysis" was released this summer, as part of the Studies in Anthropology series published by the Holt, Rinehart and Winston Publishing Co. Using examples of family systems of various cultures, Schusky's work is designed for serious students of anthropology.

The importance of kinship is illustrated by an anecdote about Australian aborigines," he said.
"Supposedly when aborigines meet, they immediately determine how they are related. Until they know their relationship, they have absolutely no basis for exchange. When aborigines meet Europeans and could trace no bond of kin, they might kill them, since a non-relative was in a class with non-human."

Schusky's introductory textbook, "Introducing Culture," will be released in a second edition this winter by Prentice-Hall Inc. The first edition went through seven printings. The work was co-authored by T.
Patrick Culbert for the elementary anthropology course at SIUE, when Culbert and Schusky were the only two instructors on the anthropology faculty.
Culbert has since joined the faculty of the University of Arizona.

Schusky joined the SIUE faculty in 1960.

State Farm Mission to Russia Sees Bright Trade Future

The Illinois farm trade mission to Russia today reported during the weekend that the prospect of future grain and livestock sales to the Soviet Union is good.

Harold Kuehn, president of the American Soybean Association, said the trade mission has been encouraged in meetings with Soviet officials this week by the possibility of a long-term market for soybeans.

Kuehn commented that the trade mission met Thursday with the minister of procurement, who makes recommendations to the minister of foreign trade, and was encouraged in regard to future markets. Russians may have because Russians feel they are limited as to what they can produce in their own country.

Dwight Davis, director of foreign trade for the Illinois Agricultural Association, said future livestock sales to Russia should be good, because the people in the Soviet Union are putting high emphasis on livestock production.

Beef, Dairy Cattle

He said they are interested in both beef and dairy cattle, as well as swine.

Phil Bradshaw, president of the Illinois Pork Producers Association, commented that there is a definite feeling in the Soviet Union that they need a greater supply of lean pork and better beef cattle breeders, such as the type of animals in Illinois.

"I think it's just a matter of these people making the right connections to get the right breeding stock," Bradshaw added.

"Their research people very obviously have the ability and knowledge to produce the animals. What they need now is a good source of lean pork breeding stock and beef animals."

Soybean Proteins

Bradshaw also believes the Russians need a higher protein source to feed their animals and said soybean meal from Illinois would provide them with that source.

Harold Steele, president of the Illinois Agriculture Association, said the Russian officials the trade mission has spoken to have indicated their affirmative long-term plan of continuing to buy agricultural products, they desire, he said, are some feed grains they have already purchased and soybeans, and they are also interested in the area of pork and beef livestock.

Steele added that he felt this has been a highly profitable mission and that it will certainly lead to expanded trade with Illinois farmers in the years to come.

John Doherty, manager of operations for Illinois Grain Co-op, echoed the feelings and said because of the cordial reception of the trade mission he feels that good relations will see additional exports from the U.S. to the USSR.

Gift of Prize Hog

Gordon Ropp, director of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, reported that Ambassador, the prize hog given to Russia by the trade mission, has officially been given to the minister of agriculture. Ropp said Ambassador was placed under a 30-day quarantine as any breed of livestock coming into a foreign country.

The director said the trade mission today presented the brochure which told the story of the showing and sale of Ambassador.

Ropp added that Ambassador was warmly received and that the Russians are looking forward to using him in their promotional activities about the good, high quality pork the state of Illinois produces.

The trade mission ended its 10-day trip to Russia Friday.

Tickets, costing $2 each, may be obtained at the association's office, 103 E. Vandavia St., Edwardsville, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., or purchasers may call 1-656-1123 for information.

Improvement of the present educational service to the citizens of Madison County and the addition of new programs to meet a wider section of the citizenry are among the goals of the association to be aided by revenue collected through the musical benefit.

Top billing in the show will be held by Bronson, a widely-known entertainer in the St. Louis metropolitan area who has appeared across the United States in nightclubs, movies, plays and on radio and television.

Hosts TV Show

Bronson gained wide recognition as host and singer on "The Noon Show," a KSD-TV daily presentation. His other professional work in this area includes radio and television commercials and stage and club appearances.

Aid Mentally III

The Madison County Association for Mental Health is a coordinated citizens group working toward the improved care and treatment of the mentally ill and handicapped.

The association has a 28-member board of directors and an advisory group of six persons. General membership in the association is held by the public, with individual members contributing a $5 per year fee.

Education of county residents about the present services available and the services needed for the future are key involvements of the association.

Providing legislation to aid in projects concerned with mental health and cooperation with the state and national groups in accomplishing various goals at these levels are also of vital concern to members.

The county organizations provides literature, films, programs and seminars and operates a speakers bureau, also added.

Goals for the future include emergency services; partial hospitalization for the mentally ill; consultation and education; in-and-out patient services; comprehensive community health programs; continuation and expansion of educational programs and services; seminars for special groups, such as police, clergy and school personnel; compilation of a directory of health, education, welfare and recreation services; and to promote interest and involve youth in county mental health programs.

With the all-district event, it was decided to bypass the annual Madison County Music Festival.

"All directors in our district have been disappointed in the (county) festival for several years," Meek informed the board. "I did not seem to be doing much good for our students, and at the last staff meeting we decided not to participate this year."

Meek said the change would give many more students in the local district a chance to participate and the cost would be no greater. An admission fee of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students will be charged to help defray expenses.

All-GC Music Festival To Replace County Event

The Granite City School District will conduct an all-district music festival, according to plans approved by the Board of Education Monday night.

The festival, to be held on Saturday in February or March in the high school gym, will include the entire senior high school band, a junior high band composed of selected musicians, and an elementary school band, with members also selected from the grade schools.

Meek, district music consultant, said that only Granite City district students will be involved in the festival.

License Plate Mailing Costs Cut by State

Secretary of State John W. Lewis said yesterday mailing of 1973 automobile plates started Monday using a new handling system that will save more than $300,000 in postage, has enabled the office to deposit in excess of $1 million in license fees earlier and permits faster delivery of more plates.

"Work has been proceeding on the new system for several months," the Secretary said, "and it was accomplished through the cooperation of U. S. postal authorities and the Divisions of Auto Registration and Accounting Revenue."

He explained that under the new system license plates that are to be mailed are sorted by Zip Code and bagged accordingly. These plates are then delivered to the Springfield Post Office where they are loaded on mail trucks for delivery to the 27 Post Office sectional centers scattered throughout the state.

Presorting the plates in this fashion qualifies the office of the Secretary of State for bulk mailing rate of 1.4 cents per set. Last year, the plates were sorted at the Springfield Post Office by postal employees and the rate was 36 cents per set. Last year, 1,802,000 sets of plates were mailed. If this same number is mailed this year, there will be a postage savings of $317,352.

Secretary Lewis said changes in plate handling and the zip sorting enabled the office to have 102,000 sets of license plates ready for mailing on Monday compared to 10,000 on the first day of mailing in 1971. He also reported that as of Sept. 28 last year the office had received 458,176 applications involving reassignments or requests. This total zoomed to 620,495 for the same day this year.

The secretary also related that it is expected that the nearly one million reassignments will be in the hands of the owners by Dec. 1, the first date that the 1973 license plates can be legally displayed. Last year, 647,000 sets had been processed up to that date while only 398,000 had been handled by the same date in 1972.

License fee deposits into the state treasury as of Sept. 28 totaled $2,072,546 compared to $888,588 on the same date last year.

Lewis said this was possible because of a new system of handling applications as they are received. "In the past," he explained, "the check stayed with the application until the final processing step, which takes several days. Now, the check is removed upon arrival and a cash receipt attached to the application to provide an audit trail identifying the check to the particular license application."

"I am pleased that the office has been able to institute this procedure as it means that the faster deposit of fees enables the State of Illinois to start drawing interest on this money earlier."

State Pioneering in Treatment Of Injuries, Mrs. Ogilvie Says

Text of talk by Mrs. Richard B. Ogilvie, wife of Illinois governor, at Tuesday's St. Elizabeth Hospital Trauma Center dedication.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I am here today to dedicate the St. Elizabeth Hospital Trauma Center.

This is one of 40 centers that now comprise the Illinois Trauma Care System — a system which has become a model for the entire country.

The spirit of cooperative planning demonstrated by all of you has resulted in this excellent new facility, which has helped you to become a part of the trauma program.

This network of which you are a part is the first of its kind in the nation.

In July 1971, the governor dedicated the first of these trauma centers. My husband considers the creation of the state trauma system one of the proudest accomplishments of his administration.

The federal government recognized Illinois' leadership in this field in July with a $4 million grant to expand the trauma network to a model comprehensive emergency health care system.

Dick had a very personal interest in initiating this program. He credits the emergency hospital care he received on the battlefield in World War II with saving his life.

Certainly, the know-how that can save lives of combat soldiers should also be available to save accident victims at home and on our highways.

In its first year, over 14,000 accident victims have been treated through the trauma system. Most of these patients were taken directly from an accident scene to a trauma center.

The specialized research and equipment utilized for their care, and the coordinated transportation facilities, are undoubtedly responsible for a mortality rate of around 2%.

For Americans under 45, accidents are a leading cause of death. Yet, accidental injury has been the most mysterious and least researched of all leading maladies.

One author called it "the most neglected disease of modern society."

It is puzzling that, while we contribute millions of dollars to the study of cancer, heart trouble and many other diseases, we seem to have accepted accidental injury as inevitable.

I'm sure all of us here today realize now that this is an area that demands more attention and, in Illinois, it is receiving that attention. We can truly be proud to be blazing a trail with this statewide program.

It is noteworthy that, as extensive as this program is, it is not one that has required millions of dollars to administer.

Instead of creating bureaucracies, the state is acting as the catalyst and supplying coordination for this network of services.

The facilities to be used, as in your case here, are always selected by local health planning groups, who have the best understanding of local needs and capabilities.

The challenge has been for the state to supply the impetus and to help solve logistical problems while relying on the medical talent and administrative knowledge on the local level.

I share your pride, and my husband's pride, in the fine results we are seeing from this statewide effort. And I do so appreciate the opportunity to formally dedicate the St. Elizabeth Hospital Trauma Center and present you this plaque on behalf of the governor.

Girl, 4, Run Over By Farm Tractor

A four-year-old Ponton Beach girl suffered a cracked pelvis and her mother and another child received minor injuries when their wagon was struck by a tractor at Eckert's Orchard, Inc., on Greenmount Road in St. Clair Township this week.

Susan Walton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Walton, 6 Victoria Drive, Ponton Beach, reportedly was run over by the tractor. She is a patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Belleville.

Susan was among several persons riding a wagon from the orchards to the Eckert Building. They were riding in a front tractor-pulled wagon down a steep hill with another tractor and wagon following.

The brakes of the second tractor apparently failed and the unit struck the rear of the wagon on which the Waltons and others were riding.

1st Assembly of God Hosts Musical Group

"Truth," a group of 15 musicians, will present a return musical engagement at First Assembly of God, 24th Street and Grand Avenue, Sunday evening at 8:30 p.m.

Performing for enthusiastic audiences across the nation, their repertoire runs the gamut from a cappella arrangements of familiar old hymns to the "Now" sound of contemporary folk and gospel music.

To the accompaniment of their delightful instrumentation, several popular record albums have been produced by the aggregation.

Directing the group is Roger Breland, a former teacher and church musician. Breland is a graduate of Troy State University and since graduation has distinguished himself in the music field both as a performer and a conductor.

"Truth" is made up of college-age people from all across America representing various different church denominations. Each devotes at least a year of his life to the group and it's ministry.

Pastor Allen Groff said the public is invited.

ROSALIND RUSSELL. Her career in motion pictures and the theatre goes on and on . . . The actress has just completed a television movie "Lonelyheart 555" for ABC-TV.

Roz Russell's Talent Continues to Enthrall

Hollywood — The Bistro, a Beverly Hills restaurant, caters to such celebrated clientele that one or more star passing through its dark and sedate portal usually causes no ripple. Yet, even the restaurant's staff took notice when Rosalind Russell sailed in.

She's an actress recognized by her peers for her talent; a star recognized by the public as having been one since the title actually meant something. She recently finished work in an ABC television movie, "Lonelyheart 555," and had come to lunch to discuss it. However, she wasn't adverse to discussing other new productions as well.

"I don't know how young people can look at those blue movies and not be disgusted," she all but snorted. "I'm not interested in anybody's sex activities but my own. I must say, though, that I'm fascinated by the use of the camera in some of the new pictures and by the sets."

Miss Russell began learning the tricks and techniques of her chosen field when, after graduation from Marymount College in Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson, she enrolled at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York.

The daughter of a distinguished New England trial lawyer, the late James E. Russell, Roz came from a thoroughly nontheatrical family which found her addiction to acting somewhat unbecoming.

"I hid my theater ambitions from my poor mother," Miss Russell said. "She'd been left with seven children, and I hated to add to her burdens, so I told her I wanted to study drama so that I could teach dramatic arts."

However, at her graduation exercises, the tall, intelligent New Englander was offered a job with a theatrical company. And, after that, neither her mother's qualms nor phone calls bugging her to come home could discourage her from becoming a professional actress.

She made her Broadway bow in "Talent". Then for three years she appeared in a succession of plays, usually under Theater Guild auspices, until her performance in a revival of "The Second Man" brought her a screen test and an MGM contract.

Since that time, despite her returns to Broadway to star in "Wonderful Town" and "Auntie Mame," she considers California her home, primarily because of her durable marriage to Los Angeles-based producer Frederick Brisson by whom she has one son, Lance.

"To have a successful marriage," Miss Russell declares, "you must put marriage first—

Thurs., Oct. 5, 1972 Page 17

The Granite City Area Council of PTAs held its first meeting of the year in conjunction with a pot luck supper at the cafeteria of the new Russell Johnson School. The president, Mrs. Juanita Hunter, presided and the invocation was offered by the Rev. Gus Falter, pastor of the Pontiac Baptist Church.

The new corresponding secretary, Mrs. Alma Burnett, of Logan School, was introduced. Reports were given by Mrs. Yvonne Lipnick, treasurer, and Mrs. Burnett.

Guests introduced were District Director Rick Hulise of Collinsville and Mrs. Bule; B. J. Davis, Granite City superintendent of schools; Dale Rea; and Harold Briggs, assistant superintendent of the Educational Region of Madison County.

Mrs. Hunter introduced committee chairman for the year, and announced the next meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 30 at Nameoki School. The program will be focused on the schools' learning center, she said.

The District 28 fall conference will be hosted by the Granite City PTA Council Thursday, Oct. 26, at the high school cafeteria. Featured speaker will be Mrs. Benner, president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers. The agenda will include election of a new district director. Tickets cost $2.50 each and reservations may be made with Mrs. Twila McKinney.

Program chairman, Donald Kopp, principal of Nameoki School, outlined proposed programs for the year and Mrs. Kitty Wilson reported progress of the membership committee.

Mrs. Virginia Apperson displayed the new PTA commemorative stamp, marking the 75th year of the PTA organization. She urged units to include the stamp in scrapbooks.

A. E. Menendez gave the school education report and advised that a committee will be formed to attend school board meetings.

Principals of Granite City elementary schools introduced at the meeting were Mrs. Agnes Fryntko, Parkview; Menendez, Mitchell; Kopp, Nameoki; Jack Mulach, Maryville; Ted Vrenick, Wilson; Alfred Wilson, Emerson; and the principal of the host school, W. Richard Brinkhoff.

A guided tour of the new school building followed the business meeting. Escorting the group were Brinkhoff and Mrs. Laura Falter, a faculty member at Johnson School.

The Women's Missionary Society of Calvary Baptist Church met at the church Tuesday for a noon luncheon and monthly meeting.

A devotional lesson was presented by Mrs. Delphine Kinder and Mrs. Grace Hetsley. Prayers for the missionaries were offered by Mrs. Paula Linville and Mrs. Dorothy Brinkley.

The 95th regular Synod of the Episcopal Diocese of Springfield will convene Friday and Saturday at Belleville. All meetings and services will take place at Augustine's Restaurant on Route 460, with St. George's Episcopal Church of Belleville as the host parish.

Certified delegates who will attend the Synod from St. Bartholomew Episcopal Church in Granite City are the Rev. Wilbur L. Lear, rector; William R. Gaumer, Charles A. Heth and Frank Rawden.

The Rt. Rev. Albert W. Hillestad, Bishop of Springfield, will preside over the Synod proceedings. The churchman was consecrated as bishop in February and assumed the office as head of the Springfield Diocese on Sept. 1. The diocese encompasses the entire Southern Illinois area.

Bishop Hillestad succeeded the Rt. Rev. Albert A. Chambers, S.T.D., who served as bishop from 1962. The latter has since retired and is residing in Massachusetts.

The first event of the Synod will be a celebration of the Mass at 5:15 p.m. Friday at Augustine's. The service is open to the public and will feature the choir of St. George's Church singing the "Mass of the Winds," a modern folk Mass setting to the Liturgy.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday, the annual Synodical banquet is scheduled to take place. The Synod will reconvene Saturday morning with a Pontifical Mass celebrated by Bishop Hillestad and the four archdeacons of the diocese. A breakfast will follow and the general business of the Synod will proceed immediately afterward, the Rev. Lear said.

Handicapped, Mansion Restoration Discussed Here by Mrs. Ogilvie

Mrs. Richard B. Ogilvie, wife of the governor of Illinois, discussed her participation in programs to aid the mentally retarded during a luncheon talk in Granite City Tuesday.

Speaking at the YMCA auditorium, she addressed members of the Granite City and Madison Rotary clubs and the Granite City Optimist Club.

"While I claim no expertise in the field of aid to the handicapped, I have become involved in the hope that participation by the governor's wife will call attention to the subject and help programs for the retarded to gain a greater degree of public acceptance," she commented.

Mrs. Ogilvie described the inner workings of the Executive Mansion and reviewed procedures used in preparing for gatherings and dinners there.

The Ogilvies now reside in the back part of the mansion while remodeling proceeds elsewhere in the structure, she related. The Illinois Historical Society has played a key part in restoration work, the club members were told.

One of the greatest problems in restoring the 117-year-old mansion is to keep the historical atmosphere of the 1800s and also modernize the home for the comfort of the governor's family and provide modern facilities for entertaining, she said.

Mrs. Ogilvie told the luncheon gathering that as many as 600 tourists visit the mansion in one day and they wish to see relics of past years kept intact.

In concluding her talk, Mrs. Ogilvie cited her husband's concern for traffic safety throughout the state and nation and added he is pleased with the series of new trauma centers to aid accident victims.

Vice-President A. H. Fromling served as master-of-ceremonies for the day and Howard Kaseberg introduced Mrs. Ogilvie.

Lewis Frazar, a loaned executive from General Steel Industries working in the current-

United Fund campaign, showed a Johnny Cash film, a national release related to united giving.

Mrs. Ogilvie departed prior to the film in order to speak at dedication of the St. Elizabeth Hospital trauma center. Later Tuesday afternoon, she substituted for her husband, who was ill with bronchitis, in dedicating the new Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine.

Mrs. Harriet Horn of Granite City also attended. She is the Madison County unit chairman of the service committee.

The meeting consisted of workshops for committee chairmen and unit board chairmen on the first day and general sessions on the second day of the conference.

The sessions included a talk by Irving Selikoff, M.D., professor of medicine and director of the Environmental Sciences Laboratory at Mount Sinai

School of Medicine in New York City. Dr. Selikoff discussed how the environment can effect people, and its relationship to various types of cancer.

Concluding the conference was the annual dinner. Ronnie Kile, well known New Orleans jazz pianist and American Cancer Society national volunteer, told of his family's experience with cancer.

$5,000 Bills to Levee District Challenged

Two bills totaling $5,305 submitted to the East Side Levee and Sanitary District by an East St. Louis firm operated by a former trustee of the levee district have been withheld from payment pending an investigation, according to William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice, president of the levee board.

The bills were submitted by A-Age Electrical Contractors, Inc., for work on 20 separate projects during July, August and September. The firm is operated by Thomas "Skip" Hennessy, a trustee of the levee district from 1960 to 1964.

Ebersold said payment is being held up until James Spanos, acting engineer of the levee district, completes an investigation into the work for which the district was billed. Spanos said the bills were filed without purchase orders, without requisitions, and in violation of a levee district ordinance which restricts employees to purchases less than $50 without authorization of the engineering department.

Parking Eliminated On Sixteenth Street

Parking on Sixteenth Street between Madison Avenue and State Street is prohibited under an ordinance approved by the Granite City Council Monday night.

The bill was passed at the request of the Granite City Steel Co. which notified the council that it plans to fence in its parking lot bounded by 16th and 17th streets, and Madison and Grand avenues with both the entrance and exit on Sixteenth Street.

The company informed the council that this would create a traffic bottleneck if parking continued along Sixteenth Street. The company plans to landscape the area, the council was told.

Circuit Clerks To Be On Election Ballots

Circuit clerks in Illinois counties will be subject to election in the Nov. 7 balloting, the Illinois Supreme Court ruled Tuesday in a case appealed from the Sangamon County Circuit Court at Springfield.

The high court sustained the circuit court ruling which held that circuit clerks are subject to a 1963 state statute providing for their election, despite the lack of elective provisions in the 1970 Constitution and failure of the legislature to provide for such elections since adoption of the constitution.

Three circuit clerks of northern Illinois counties filed suit to eliminate circuit clerks from the Nov. 7 election ballots, and appealed the circuit court decision. The Supreme Court ruling will clear the way for printing election ballots in Illinois counties.

The first was held at Shakey's Pizza Parlor in St. Louis with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Walker and children Jackie and Jill, the honoree's parents, and her sister Tracy.

A slumber party was held at her home. Games were played with prizes going to Laura Rigby, Jackie Walker, Sharon Box, Doris Evans, Laura Shockley and Sandy Robinson.

A large pink and white birthday cake was served to those mentioned and Chris Wertheis, Laurie Cottrell, and the honoree's sister.

BUZZIN DOLLS CLUB SERVED LUNCHEON

The Buzzin Dolls Bunko Club met at the home of Mrs. Linda Draper, 2601 Missouri Ave. Bunko was played with prizes awarded to Jackie Seago, Marilyn Caton and Ann Hecht. Others attending were Mesdames Ruth Holmes, Billie Benda, Toni Smith, Mary Smith, Shirley Vaughn, Dessa Severine, and Connie Simpson.

A dessert luncheon was served later in the evening. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jackie Seago, 2051 Rhodes St., Madison.

AUTUMN BRIDE, Mrs. Lloyd W. Dohrmann, the former Miss Judy Janet Kaleta, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Kaleta, 118 Reynolds St., Madison, Her wedding took place at St. Mary Roman Catholic Church in Madison.

Judy J. Kaleta Becomes Mrs. Lloyd W. Dohrmann

Miss Judy Janet Kaleta and Mrs. Dohrmann, mother of the groom, selected a raspberry pink formal length frock made with full chiffon sleeves. Rows of matching colored lace enhanced the bodice and cuffs and her accessories were in silver. Both mothers wore cymidium orchid corsages.

Arrangements of white gladioli and bronze mums in tall urns decorated the altar and the pews were marked with white satin bows for the 11 o'clock ceremony.

The Rev. Sylvester Mick, O.F.M., officiated at the double ring services.

Mrs. Helen McGarrahan, organist, accompanied the soloist, John Stanfill, as he sang "I'll Be Home for Christmas." On "This Day of Beautiful Mother," "Wedding Prayer" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Miss Kaleta is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Kaleta, 118 Reynolds St., Madison. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dohrmann, reside on Rural Route One, Millstadt, Ill.

The bride was escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father. She chose for her wedding a lovely gown of white organza over tulle designed on semi-princess lines.

An overlay of beaded Alencon lace medallions, accented the bodice made with a Victorian neckline and long tapered sleeves ending in petal points over the hands. Lace medallions were sprinkled on the floor length skirt and the detachable train was bordered in scalloped Alencon lace.

A bridal veil of illusion sheer downward from a lace comb clip and she carried a cascade of white snowdrift mums, carnations and stephanotis, centered with an orchid and English ivy.

Mrs. Diane Trotter, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Karen Nizinski, the bride's cousin, Miss Janice Derner and Miss Kathy Jecmen.

The attendants were gownned alike in chateausse chiffon. White Venise lace interwoven with narrow satin ribbon trimmed the high necklines and wide cuffs of the bishop sleeves. Flowing black panels added interest to the full length skirts and green and white floral headpieces complemented their ensembles.

Each young woman carried a cascade bouquet of bronze, yellow and golden mums, highlighted with orange Fuji mums.

Angela Schewe, flower girl, a cousin of the bridegroom, wore a dress fashioned in a similar style to those of the adult attendants. She held a basket of rose petals.

The bridegroom chose Gary Kempf as best man. The groomsmen were Danny Trotter, the bride's brother-in-law, Dennis Dinkel and Larry Krenmel. Jeffrey Pare, a nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Seating the guests were Tom Zaegel and Earl Doerr.

A wedding breakfast was served at Charlie's Restaurant following the ceremony. Later the same day, the newly married couple greeted friends and relatives at a reception at the Croation Hall in Madison.

The mother of the bride chose a formal length dress for the wedding in mint green and ivory. The ivory bodice, fitted with long sleeves, was accented with appliques in green, traced with lace and sequins. A long sash encircled the waistline and she wore matching accessories.

97 Members Enrolled in Business Women's Club

A total of 97 members is enrolled in the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club this season, with three candidates to be inducted into the club at the Oct. 18 dinner meeting at Charlie's Restaurant.

Mrs. Rosemary Basden, membership chairman, reported the current figure at a meeting this week of her committee. The group met at the Basden home, 2702 Center St., to reconstitute the membership objectives, past and present.

A critique was held on a dinner sponsored by the membership committee in August.

Among the means of membership involvement is a new program suggested by the new BPW Federation involving retired working women members, Mrs. Basden explained. An award will be granted to each retired member who sponsors a working woman into the club, she said.

Miss Mary Francis Lynch is the first member in the Granite City club to qualify under the program through sponsorship of two new members, Mrs. Evetta Willis of Willis Florist, 2365 Burton Ave., and Mrs. Linda Miller, 223rd St.

The local club is the second in the state to achieve an award under the new program, Mrs. Basden said.

Another first for the local business women's club is a "Hoe Hay" inducement project in which cash, accumulated monthly, will be presented to a member at each monthly dinner session.

Planned by the committee was a "membership-in-action" event, scheduled from 4 to 7 p.m. Friday at Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, where BPW club objectives and literature will be displayed to working women. Similar booths will be sponsored by club members at other locations at future dates.

Mrs. Basden stressed that all working women in business or the professions are eligible for club membership. Women interested in attending a meeting or joining the organization are invited to contact Mrs. Basden, at 877-6092, or Mrs. Emylee Alford, at 877-5596, for further information.

Older new members were accepted and inducted into the Granite City club within the past two months, the committee learned. Efforts will be increased to recruit an additional 15 women prior to the May 1.

Mrs. Basden said.

The membership committee also discussed other future projects, including sponsorship of a new BPW club in the Wood River-Roxana area.

1973 membership deadline, Mrs. Basden said.

Business Women's Week Starts Oct. 15

"National Business and Professional Women's Week" will be marked by several special events, both nationally and locally, the week of Oct. 15 to Oct. 21.

Programs for the week-long observance were arranged Monday evening by the planning committee of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club, which met at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Maxine Grissman, 2538 Buenger Blvd.

To initiate BPW activities here, details were completed for a cruise on board the riverboat Huck Finn on Sunday, Oct. 15.

Club members will attend a meeting of the City Council of Granite City on Monday, Oct. 16, and the following night view a presentation of "The Fantasticks," an off-Broadway production to be staged at Augustine's Restaurant in Belleville.

The local BPW club has scheduled its monthly dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 18, at Charlie's Restaurant. Current state legislators from this area will address the business women, it was announced.

A Halloween "coffee klatch" at the Grissman home will take place Thursday, Oct. 19, and club members will entertain residents at the Anchorage Homes on Friday evening.

Elkettes Plan Social Events

Elks Exalted Ruler Joseph Harding spoke at a meeting of the Elkettes Tuesday night and invited the members to participate in social activities planned for October.

The officer announced a blind doubles bowling tournament will be held Sunday. Also planned are a Halloween dance Saturday, Oct. 21, and an old fashioned bonfire and fun fest to take place Saturday, Oct. 28.

Mrs. Blanche Leuchter, Elkettes president, presided at the meeting, with Mrs. Kathryn Pomeroy, chaplain, leading the prayers.

Reports were submitted by Mesdames Teresa Harding, Cam Roberts, Dean Graf, Vesta Campbell, Ruth Bischof and Erma Buscemi. Mrs. Karmyn Edmonds announced a rummage sale on Oct. 14 will be held at Schermer's Garden Shop in Madison. Plans were made to honor new members at the next meeting.

After the business session, Mrs. Marian Merz, entertainment chairman, directed the group in games. Those winning prizes were Mesdames Charlene Miller, Ruth Bischof, Teresa Harding, Mildred Jungels, Irma Buscemi, Ruby Winters, Karmyn Edmonds, Helen Preisigle, Betty McGinnis and Lois Teaney.

A special prize for the evening was awarded to Mrs. Sandy Shaw.

Refreshments were served by hostesses. Mesdames Shirley McGovern, Helen Todoff, Dorothy Sheppard, Lois Teaney and Bess Weiss.

DAV Auxiliary Plans Events

Future plans and events were discussed at a meeting of the DAV Auxiliary Tuesday night. The session was conducted by Commander Irene Hoelter.

The local unit will entertain Auxiliary National Commander Mrs. Nelda Kantz of Decatur in November and host a party Sunday, Oct. 29, at Jefferson Baracks Veterans Hospital.

Mrs. Hoelter announced the Egyptian District meeting will be held in Granite City on Oct. 15.

Mrs. Verna Kidman, leader of Girl Scout Troop 492, sponsored by the auxiliary, reported the troop activities. Also discussed was aid to a local family whose home was destroyed by fire. Clothing and necessary household items were donated to the family, the unit was told.

Mrs. Knezevich Feted at Party

Mrs. Josephine Knezevich was honored at a barbecue and retirement party given this week by the employees of Carps Department Store. The event was held at the Rollins residence, 2277 Reville Lane.

Guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raub, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Whitson, Mrs. Virginia Conklin, Mrs. Erma Hunter, Mrs. Ida Whaley, Mrs. Dorothea Ashley, Miss Nancy Witte and Ken Gaines.

The honoree was presented with a special gift from the group following the dinner.

To conclude the annual BPW celebration, the group will travel to the Barn Dinner Theatre at Ellisville, Mo., Saturday, Oct. 21, to see the dramatic production "Wait Until Dark."

Reservations for all activities planned by the committee should be made by Friday evening with Mrs. Paula Smith, the chairman said.

A district dinner meeting will be held Sunday, Oct. 22, at the Stratford Hotel in Alton, Mrs. Pauline Weir, BPW president, announced at the session.

Others at the meeting this week were Mesdames Lil Marzluft, Lorene Sadrakula, Verena Lengyel and Rose Darling.

HARRIS SCHOOL MOTHERS TO MEET ON WEDNESDAY

Harris School Mothers Club will conduct a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the school gymnasium, it was announced today by the president, Mrs. Lenora Brown.

Guest speakers will be Fred Riddle, Madison superintendent of schools and Talmadge Fisk, president of the Madison School Board. All parents are invited to attend.

SIU Women's Club Plans Coffee

Welcoming coffees for 45 new comers to the Women's Club of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are being held in eight area communities. The series of coffees will be capped with a general coffee at 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 12, in the River Rooms of the University Center.

Entertainment for the SIUE women will be provided by the Collinsville High School Chamber Choir and Ensemble, directed by Mrs. Harry Gibson.

The 30-minute program will include both light and serious operatic music.

According to the president, Mrs. James Comer of Collinsville, old and new members of the SIUE Women's Club will have an opportunity to sign up for interest groups at the coffees. Interest group chairman is Mrs. Howard Dye, Edwardsville.

Other officers, all of Edwardsville are Mrs. Harry Kircher, vice-president; Mrs. Loran D. Marlow, secretary; and Mrs. Dale Wantling, treasurer. Directors are Mrs. S. D. Lovell and Mrs. Charles Schweizer.

JUVENILES APPREHENDED
Two 16-year-old Madison boys were arrested in the home of one of the boys in the 1600 block of Fifth Street in Madison at 2:05 p.m. Tuesday after they allegedly were shooting a rifle in the basement of the home. Police reported a stolen rifle was recovered and part of an altered rifle was found. Madison juvenile officers are investigating.

Self-service is not our excuse for no service

Lot of guys are lucky! They can walk into a self-service store knowing exactly what they want, pick it up and be on their way in no time. But what about those of us that don't know just what we need or just what to call it. It is a self-service store good for us too? IT IS IF IT'S DO-IT-YOURSELF HOME CENTER. Because at D.I.Y., there's a group of well trained people who are glad to share their knowledge with you. They answer all your questions... give you helpful "how to" hints... and see to it that you have all the materials to get the job done right.

Maybe it makes D.I.Y. different... but if being different means being the only self-service store that offers GOOD SERVICE... D.I.Y. is going to be different for a long time.

Drive Success Not an 'Unreachable Star' If All Make It Happen

The way the 1973 Tri-Cities Area United Fund has begun bodes well for its eventual outcome.

The kickoff meeting was attended by an enthusiastic gathering ranging from housewives to workers to company presidents, agency volunteers to representatives of a wide variety of organizations.

There was no false optimism. The number of manufacturing jobs here is fewer than in the mid-1960s and there have been other changes affecting local firms. This places deeper responsibility on each individual, yet each group to personally make the United Fund campaign a success by pledging not only as much as last year but considerably more.

Such a pattern is being set, as indicated by verbal reports from the industrial employees and business division. There were announcements at the kickoff dinner of gains of 4 1/2%, 5 1/2%, 11%, 25% and 35%.

Opening of New Dental School a Proud Occasion for This County

Having campaigned as hard as any newspaper to secure a dental school for Macdon County, we are especially happy to call attention to the beginning of instruction this fall and to Tuesday afternoon's opening ceremonies at the Alton Center of Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

Recommended on the basis of studies by the Illinois Board of Higher Education in 1968, the school was formally established by SIU trustees April 18, 1969.

Quadrants which have played a significant role in the planning include Harold R. Fischer, chairman of the SIUE board, and Dr. Albert W. Tritan, a local doctor of dental surgery who is the current president of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce.

The span between the spring of 1969 and the fall of 1972 may seem considerable, but it actually is a record-shattering time compared to the experience elsewhere in the United States.

It was a difficult, complex undertaking. A warm vote of thanks is due SIUE President John S. Rendleman, Dr. Frank J. Sobkowicz, dean of the new School of Dental Medicine, and a long list of other officials and citizens. There were many pitfalls and delays, and it could not have been accomplished without timely, appropriate individual actions and public response.

Scorecard Needed to Keep Track of State Candidates?

By KEN WATSON
Copy News Service

Springfield—Can you identify James D. Nowlan, Neil F. Hartigan, George W. Lindberg or Dean Barringer?

If you can, you can march to the head of the class on this practical quiz on Illinois politics.

It is unlikely that with the exception of those actively engaged in politics, one out of 10 Illinoisans could make the correct identification.

Few people are aware that Nowlan is the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor and that Hartigan is the Democrat nominee.

Probably fewer still know that Lindberg is a Republican running for state comptroller and that Barringer is his Democratic foe. The fact that the office of state comptroller even exists is undoubtedly news to many.

It was created at the 1970 Constitution Convention, as a replacement for the old office of auditor, and no one still is clear just what the change was made. The duties are roughly similar.

Campaigning in a state as geographically large as Illinois and with a population of about 11 million is an especially frustrating experience for candidates known in politics as "minor" candidates.

The minor candidate has little money, is generally unknown in most areas of the state and—worst of all—few people want to listen to him.

When he appears on a platform at a rally when candidates for governor or U.S. senator are present, he is lucky to be called on at all, and will likely have to settle for a brief introduction.

As he campaigns wearily up and down Illinois, the minor candidate realizes that he has little control over his own political fate. More likely than not, he will rise or fall with the Throughout local history dating back to the pioneering days of the previous century, Quad-Cityans have had to look to their own resources, to "pull themselves up by their own bootstraps," in order to progress. It is no different today, but local residents in fortunate still have the same kind of resolve as their forebears.

This is a "can do" community when the challenge is urgent and when it is widely understood. The 1973 campaign is a "crossroads" which truly merits extra concern, extra dedication. For the future of the local United Fund and for the future of the Quad-Cities, it is especially important this fall that residents, workers, businesses and groups collectively do all that is necessary to attain the minimum U.F. goal of $413,661.

The kickoff has occurred. The goal looms ahead, distant at this point, but reachable before time has run out in October 1972.

A Proud Occasion for This County

In trimming the normal start-up time from seven years to three years, SIUE recognized the serious dental manpower shortage here and elsewhere in Downstate Illinois. Speed was vital because more than half of this state's 6,000 dentists are over the age of 55 and only a fourth of them are located outside the six-county Chicago metropolitan area.

The initial class of 24 dental students includes four Quad-Cityans. It is a tribute to the obviously high caliber of the faculty and program that competition for these 24 places was so intense. The intensive curriculum will enable each student to graduate in three calendar years, rather than the traditional four years, by attending classes 44 weeks a year.

The dividends of the new dental school will be numerous, both for the profession and for residents of this area and the Midwest.

The achievement is extraordinary, and this is a proud week for everyone.

When encountering an individual who knows everything, give no advice and, above all, take none.

It is possible to repair a broken reputation but people usually keep their eyes on the point where the break occurred.

top of the ticket.

This year, candidates down the ballot must cope with even more frustrations than usual.

At the Statehouse, Republican and Democrat strategists agree on at least one thing: There is a great deal of voter apathy, far more so than in 1968.

Compared to that fiery historical battle for president in 1960, this campaign is Dullsville.

Nowlan and Hartigan, unlike their predecessor, were also runners before them, were also runners from the start.

This is because, under the new Constitution, Illinois now elects governors and lieutenant governors jointly in the same manner as President and Vice President.

Nowlan and Hartigan have been dutifully plugging away in the hope that they can help the respective top men, Republican incumbent Richard B. Ogilvie and Democrat Daniel Walker. Nowlan, a former legislator who comes from Toulon, not far from Galesburg, hopes to help Ogilvie most among farmers and small-town voters.

Hartigan, a Chicagoan who has an extensive political background in the big city, hopes to help Walker win support from big city voters, including ethnic and minority groups.

Hartigan has a special problem in that he ran in the primary with the defeated governor candidate, Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, while beating Walker's man Neal E. Eckert of Carbondale.

Some politicians feel that Hartigan's identification as a regular Democrat allied to Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley could hurt the cause of Walker, who has been concentrating on his independent status.

State Aid for Speech Correction

Granite City Grade School received $3,505. Community High School $3,080, Madison Schools $12,178 and Venice Schools $1,237 in state aid for education of exceptional children. Most of the funds are for speech correction classes and the rest is for instruction of mentally retarded or physically handicapped children. State law provides that Illinois will pay the excess cost per child up to a maximum of $300, less the average cost of educating other children.

Grain Trade Raises Question—Should Subsidies End?

Copy News Service

When President Nixon in a stroke of deft diplomacy opened the doors of communication to Communist China and the Soviet Union earlier this year, his efforts were hailed as landmark achievements in the quest for peaceful coexistence between Western nations and Communist powers.

Today the heated campaign debate, as well as the stiff House investigation of Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, seeks to leave the impression that the second phase of these visits is a blunder such as that.

While Washington is an information sieve, as the Pentagon Papers exhibit, it is still beyond belief that an Administration with such a clear lead in the presidential race would commit a blunder such as that.

The attack is politics and, in due time, the attackers will move on to another subject. When this occurs and a plea of objectivity again is reached, the people of the United States will be forced to the real problems existing in the food sales to Communists.

Reduced to its essence, the question raised is what the United States government is doing in the wheat business at all; why it has been in the wheat business for 35 years.

The ties to Russia and China speak to the desperate state of the Communists' agriculture.

They also underline the anomalous situation of the Department of Agriculture controlling the plantings of wheat in the United States and creating domestic imbalances which raise the price of bread at a time when grain is a seller's market.

Is this not the precisely right moment for the United States to begin phasing itself out of the farm subsidy program altogether?

Should not American farmers plant as much as they want and sell their products at prices that the market establishes?

Perhaps the point will be driven home by the realization that one of the principal reasons that Communist Russia and Communist China have had to turn to the United States to buy food is because their governments are running the farms.

Responsible, Responsive Journalism Vital to U. S.

Statement of President Richard M. Nixon on the 1972 National Newspaper Week, Oct. 5-14.

The freedom of the press is one of our most cherished national traditions. It is a bulwark of liberty.

John Adams said, "None of the means of information are more sacred or have been cherished with more tenderness and care by the settlers of America than the press."

His words are as timely now as they were in Eighteenth Century America.

Today, our journalists face unprecedented challenges born of an increasingly complex society.

The significance of their role in the earliest days of our nation is enlarged many times over by the revolution we have realized in communications.

Their responsiveness and care in the past have served their belief has been by generations of American journalists.

Coal Conversion to Gas Looms Big in State's Future

By JOAN MURARO
Copy News Service

Springfield—A rosy though black picture of a brighter economic day in Illinois has been painted in a final draft of a survey of coal gasification in the state.

The report was requested by the Institute for Environmental Quality (IEQ) and prepared by the Institute of Gas Technology (IGT).

Michael Schneiderman, IEQ director, said the IGT was paid a reduced rate for the report since it fails to provide some requested information.

In substance, the report says Illinois has enough coal reserves to support a very large coal gasification industry with "at least" 29 plants each generating 250 million cubic feet daily.

The synthetic gas should have a price tag competitive with other alternative sources of gas supply, and be produced without environmental damage; it would meet the growing crisis of natural gas shortage while utilizing Illinois' vast coal reserves, it is concluded.

Based on current technology, some plants could be in operation by 1975-76 with advanced technology plants possible by 1980.

According to the study, each of the 28 or more plants will provide direct jobs for about 1,600 people with an additional 1,000 jobs generated in related areas in nearby communities. Plants will each bring an initial $115 million investment to the area and produce $21 million annually in personal income.

On a "some good news and some bad news" basis, the foregoing is the good news. The bad news falls in two major categories, one more easily corrected than the other.

One is that all these good things depend, and heavily, on enormous amounts of water being available, and adequate ground water situations occur only on the western edge of Madison County and on the northern boundaries of Menard and Macon counties.

Other counties are: Sangamon, Christian, Macoupin, Montgomery, Bond, Clinton, Marion, Washington and Franklin.

Water can be contained in reservoirs in adequate amounts but reservoirs can only be built in certain circumstances.

And where they do exist, or could, much of their water capacity might first have to go for some other purpose.

The longer the distance water must be piped in, for instance from the Mississippi or Wabash rivers, the higher the price of the end product.

Building that wet blanket even more is the fact that most of the water used is consumed in gasification, and can't be reused.

The other main problem, which may be easier to solve, is that of mine waste disposal, for an industry which would require 1,100 to 1,200 people to furnish the feedstock—coal—all; why it has been in the wheat business for 35 years.

The ties to Russia and China speak to the desperate state of the Communists' agriculture.

They also underline the anomalous situation of the Department of Agriculture controlling the plantings of wheat in the United States and creating domestic imbalances which raise the price of bread at a time when grain is a seller's market.

Is this not the precisely right moment for the United States to begin phasing itself out of the farm subsidy program altogether?

Should not American farmers plant as much as they want and sell their products at prices that the market establishes?

Perhaps the point will be driven home by the realization that one of the principal reasons that Communist Russia and Communist China have had to turn to the United States to buy food is because their governments are running the farms.

Since 1961, the state has averaged about 8,000 bituminous coal miners, so the mining force in Illinois would have to be cut by 14% for each plant put in use.

Ultimately, four times as many miners as the present work force would be needed if all potential sites are developed.

Not only miners are lacking, but presently there aren't enough mining engineers being graduated to meet future needs.

Since hourly earnings of coal miners are among the highest in U.S. industry, the report hopes to note that full implementation of the mine safety act may have a positive effect in attracting young men to the industry.

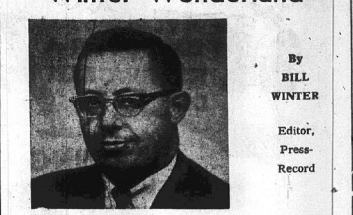

A comprehensive, long-range plan for "orderly but expeditious" development of a coal gasification industry is urged.

Specifically needed are increased geological information on coal reserves, better mining conditions, a program for mining manpower development, establishment of better methods of mine waste disposal, and "economically acceptable" solutions to the water supply problem.

With the information in hand, Schneiderman said the IEQ is now working with others from Illinois to secure a major demonstration plant for Illinois, with either federal or industry financing.

The entire report is based on use only of deep-mined coal, so coal gasification in Illinois would not perpetuate strip mining.

Winter Wonderland

Autopsies Can Aid the Living by Helping Diagnose Future Ailments

To smoke or not to smoke? That is a question whose answer is a lively topic for people like the U.S. surgeon general, officers of the Tobacco Institute and the general public.

Without going into that subject today, we'll utilize some general studies by the Institute to explore another point. The generally low rate of autopsies performed in the United States.

Our dictionary defines an autopsy as "seeing with one's own eyes" and "examination of a body after death for determining the cause of death or the character and extent of changes produced by disease."

Autopsies are performed in the U.S. in an estimated 20% of all deaths, including about a third of those which occur in hospitals generally and nearly all of the deaths in federal hospitals.

Among the states, a recent survey showed Kentucky ranked highest at 42%, followed by 11.3%, and Hawaii, highest, 42.5%.

The U.S. average is low compared to some other parts of the world.

In Switzerland, 80% of all deaths are autopsied, and in Russia close to 100%.

A New York City physician who has worked for many years to promote increased use of postmortems has established the Foundation for the Advancement of Medical Knowledge.

Says Dr. John Prutting: "H. L. Mencken defined a graduate as a student who has graduated his own papers. A similar view might be taken of the one who fails to submit his diagnostic skills to that impartial grader, the autopsy."

"It is disappointing to have one's diagnosis of coronary or disease such as pancreatitis, but pulmonary embolism, ruptured aortic aneurysm, dissecting aneurysm or an abdominal disease such as pancreaticitis, but nothing is more instructive."

The Journal of the American Medical Association and the British Medical Journal have both stressed editorially the importance of autopsies in research and professional service as well as in teaching future doctors.

The substantial space was devoted to an article, "How Post-Mortems Help the Living," in a recent issue of the American Medical Association journal publication, Today's Health.

The article was, in effect, a plea for more popular acceptance of the autopsy, often made impossible by emotional reactions of the bereaved.

"Rigorous" state laws like New York's, which requires family members if there is no surviving spouse.

Colorado, on the other hand, has new laws necessitating only the permission of the person handling funeral arrangements.

Illinois has permitted hospitals to perform autopsies with the assent of only one surviving relative.

But the section of the law permitting this was ruled unconstitutional this year by the Cook County Circuit Court, causing much confusion among hospitals and physicians while an appeal is being considered.

The judge declared that the "right to bury the body of a dead person without mutilation of the body" is a "qual-property right" of the surviving relatives.

But he didn't rule how many must assent, what the time limit should be or how many family members must be contacted. He ordered a $1,000 award to the brother of a man autopsied with only permission of another brother.

Autopsy findings are not available usually until some time after the death certificate is filed.

No jurisdiction, apparently, requires correction of the death certificate when post-mortem examination reveals diagnostic error.

Dr. Prutting has suggested that mortality statistics be recorded by degree of probable accuracy, with notation on whether the diagnosis has been supported by autopsy, biopsy or surgery, and that death certificates, too, record the degree of certainty.

"In some cases," he says, "the certifying doctor should be able to state frankly that the cause of death is indeterminate."

Short of such qualification, says Dr. Prutting, "meaningful mortality statistics can be assembled only by analysis of postmortem observations, not by guesswork, no matter how educated the guesser."

Dr. George James, former New York City Health Commissioner who was dean of Mt. Sinai Medical School before his death this year, was one of the early researchers investigating the accuracy of death certificates by checking them against hospital records and autopsy reports.

He identified three reasons for error in cause-of-death data:

1. Death certificate information is not recorded correctly.

2. Clinical and laboratory data available before the autopsy is performed are not sufficient to enable the cause of death to be determined correctly.

3. In some cases where all information, including the autopsy data, is available, it is still difficult to decide on one underlying cause of death.

Both statisticians and physicians have criticized the use of death certificates in epidemiological research—i.e., the study of people, their illnesses and deaths and those factors that they have in common that might have caused the specific disease.

A Chicago pathologist, past president of the American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists, has estimated that the principal diagnosis listed on the death certificate is incorrect in about 10% of cases.

Dr. Robert W. Miesler, who is professor of pathology and department chairman, University of Chicago, said in many instances "the most meaningful statistical and epidemiological studies on the effects of environmental and genetic factors on disease can only be done from autopsy data."

"We really should be moving toward a 100% autopsy rate, since selection of cases would be deplorable in these studies."

Dr. James had reported that overdagnosis was often balanced by underdiagnosis of some disease, as far as vital statistics and disease rates were concerned.

But he added, "Despite such a compensating effect, the extent of the error in a large number of specific cases causes serious doubts as to the validity of the use of cause-of-death data as a basis for epidemiological studies of degenerative diseases."

Subsequent research in the U.S. and Canada has emphasized the point.

Aside from whatever points are made by the Tobacco Institute regarding the issue of smoking, its research portion relating to autopsies seems to make a clear and logical suggestion.

Find ways to increase the number of post-mortem examinations, and it is likely to gain understanding of ailments will enable the living to be healthier and live longer.

$405,000 Sought In Fatal Mishap At Trailer Park

A suit seeking damages totaling $405,000 in nine counts has been filed in Madison County Circuit Court as an aftermath of a fatal accident in which a tractor-trailer truck ran off Interstate 270, through a fence and into the Sunny Shores Mobile Home Park at Mitchell.

The plaintiffs are John North, individually and administrator of the estate of his daughter, Amy North, 2½, who was killed in the accident, and Lynn North.

Defendants are the Manor Baking Co. of St. Louis, Sayre and Fisher Companies of St. Louis, owner of the trailer court and Kenneth Harbarger, operator of the court, and Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. of Chicago.

The complaint alleges that the Firestone firm manufactured the tires for the truck which were defective and dangerous, causing the accident, and charges that the owners and operators of the trailer park were negligent in failing to locate mobile home sites a safe distance from the highway and for failure to locate a barrier to stop vehicles that leave the highway from entering the park.

The Norths are asking $100,000 from each of the defendants for the estate and John North individually, $25,000 from each for injuries sustained by Lynn North and $10,000 from the mobile home.

Most Illinois Anti-Pollution Suits Succeed

A batting average of better than .300 in the big leagues is darn good.

So I don't quite know what to make of the "batting average" of the Illinois Pollution Control Board and our attorney general.

Only three of the 500 cases the board has decided have been overturned on appeal—for a .594 record.

This amazing record could be reduced slightly by adverse decisions in the two-dozen pending appeal cases, but it still would provide a strong endorsement.

Starting from scratch July 1, 1970, the board has received 838 cases and has kept nearly current by disposing of 500.

What makes the board's performance unique is that it was testing fresh legal ground doing things under the law which really had never been done before.

This was true in Illinois and in most other states when our General Assembly created the board and the state's anti-pollution "policeman," the Environmental Protection Agency.

Past efforts everywhere have been slowed or stymied by poor organization, inadequate staffs, and a procedural maze which had little or nothing for the public, but kept lawyers busy.

One key feature of the Illinois law is this: Appeals from the board's decision cannot be taken to Circuit courts, which in many areas have almost hopelessly huge backlogs of untied cases.

The result is delay—almost endless delay. The Illinois law by this single feature has eliminated a major stumbling block in our efforts against pollution.

All cases the board decides can be appealed, but there is a 35-day deadline for filing, another precaution against delay.

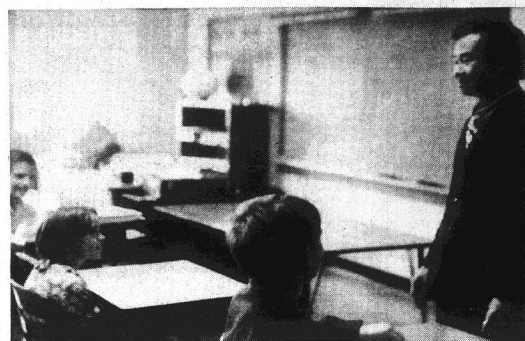

Yet these provisions would not result in better performance for the public unless the board's decisions could stand up. They have, obviously.

Perhaps I should mention that the members of the board, headed by David Currie, represent both political parties and have terms that extend beyond my own present term.

I haven't always agreed with the board, but it is independent both by law and by the spirit of that law.

Since the board is a quasi-judicial body, its independence from the chief executive is constitutionally sound.

I vetoed a bill which would have reduced the board to the old-fashioned kind of administrative agency whose decisions get lost in the courts.

The bill struck at the heart of the Illinois law by requiring appeals to go to Circuit courts instead of appellate courts.

Approving such a measure, I wrote, "would bring delay to our pollution control efforts and benefit no one except those seeking by dilatory tactics to avoid compliance with clearly established statewide standards."

While the board is and should be independent this is not true of the Environmental Protection Agency, the pollution enforcement arm of the executive branch of state government.

Like most policemen, the EPA has had its troubles—including some serious friction with elected officials of local governments.

The job the EPA must do will never be easy, simply because it's human nature for people and officials to be against somebody else's pollution, but rather tolerant of their own.

But the EPA, the mayors tell me, is now making strides toward smoother relations, and I am certain these efforts will be continued.

In one area, I have asked the EPA to propose a second look at air pollution regulations adopted by the board which would possibly put out of business 80% to 90% of our small-town grain elevators.

To be successful, pollution controls should not be punitive, confiscatory or unreasonable.

They must consider the widely varying conditions between town and country, the necessity to keep our business firms competitive in the marketplace, and the huge costs to taxpayers of needed local improvements.

In spite of these common-sense checks on "instant progress," our efforts in Illinois rank well with any other state in the nation.

Fortunately, local officials and business and labor interests in Illinois have generally been most cooperative and enlightened.

This may well be the greatest single element in the substantial progress we have made because no law, no matter how well written or administered, fares well in the face of public indifference or open hostility.

Thus our good record tends to reflect more credit on the people of Illinois than on any board or agency.

With our kind of people, it's a pleasure to be governor.

Data Catalog Correlates Information on Ecology

Copley News Service Springfield—A comprehensive index which goes from "ambient quality" to "aggravated assault" and from "building permits" to "burglary" has been compiled by a state group whose chief interest is—would you believe—ecology.

The Illinois Institute for Environmental Quality has released a limited number of preliminary prints of the Illinois Data Catalog, which correlates a surprising spread of information which may be required by environmentalists.

With more than 200 entries and a key word index of more than 500 entries, the index will, after preliminary circulation and reaction, be issued in a loose-leaf folder form which will permit updating it from time to time.

Michael Schneiderman, Institute director, said the project was undertaken because "Surprising quantities and varieties of information relevant to decisions affecting the environment are collected by the many agencies of federal, state and local government."

Waste Money
If users do not know about such data, or cannot find it, they either do not use it or they waste money duplicating it.

The range of subjects at first glance at least seems to have little to do with matters environmental: for instance, banking, births, poisoning in children, firearm owners (falling between local government finance and fish management in the index), zip code maps, or marriage.

Each item is listed to show the area it includes—one or two counties, major river basins, or the entire state—as well as the date the project was done or updated.

There is also a short summary of what the subject matter is, and then the name, address, zip code and phone number of a contact for additional information or a complete copy of the subject listed.

For additional efficiency, the volume is indexed as well by human resources, water, land or air resources, and has an agency index and a provision for data registry as well as the subject index.

Buying, Improvement Census Set in Area

Questions on consumer buying and home improvement expectations will be asked by representatives of the Bureau of the Census in this month, according to Guy A. Lutz, director of the bureau's Data Collection Center in St. Paul, Minn.

The survey is taken four times yearly as part of a nationwide effort to guide government agencies in developing programs based on consumer spending patterns. A sample of residents in this area will be asked if they expect to buy a house, car, or major household appliances during the next year and if they have made recent purchases of these items.

Homesteaders will be asked about home improvements and repairs made during the last three months.

Price Bill to Guard Elderly From Fund Cuts

Millions of elderly and disabled people are finding that they will receive little or no benefit from the 20% social security increase because of simultaneous cutbacks in other federally assisted programs.

"This situation is ridiculous," Price commented. He is sponsoring legislation which would require that the 20% increase be disregarded in determining benefit levels for federally funded programs.

"Unless Congress acts, states will be able to make cuts of nearly $90 million in benefits for 12 million elderly people who receive both public assistance and social security," Rep. Price said.

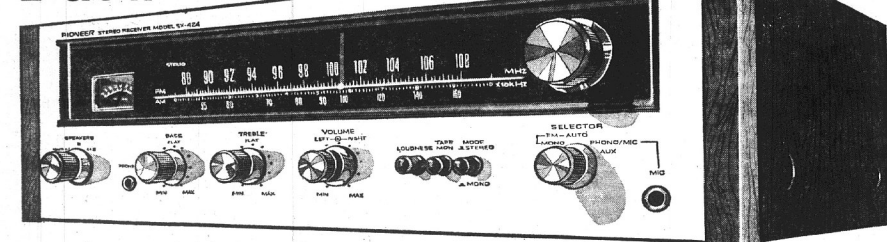

GC Steel Leafletting Opens Labor Campaign

A massive Labor for McGovern campaign in Southern Illinois is being launched this week to assist the Presidential campaign of Sen. George McGovern.

The local campaign will be conducted in conjunction with similar campaigns throughout Southern Illinois and the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Nearly a quarter of a million pieces of campaign and voter registration literature will be placed in the hands of shop workers throughout this area to inform workers about McGovern's position on taxes, unemployment, controls on wages, profits and other issues.

Area Senior Citizens Bowl Weekly in Largest League of its Kind in U. S.

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Happy smiles and laughter are evident at Tri-Mor Bowling Lanes every Wednesday afternoon when the largest senior citizen bowling league in the country gathers for its weekly competition.

There are never too young in heart and interested persons to make up 22 teams.

Upon visiting the bowling establishment one will encounter 110 well dressed retirees and attractively-coiffured ladies who have an enjoyable time taking part in a sport that some of them never tried prior to retirement.

Of those engaged in this weekly activity, about 70% bowled their first game after retiring.

Leading the energetic bowling enthusiasts in age, and to prove that you are never too old to enjoy life is Al Michel, who moves with a quick and decisive step at 89, and Mrs. Lane Aufderheide who looks 20 years younger than her 78 years.

Michel, who has lived in Granite City since 1986, has been a bowling fan off and on for 75 years. Mrs. Aufderheide has lived here since 1903 and started bowling five years ago.

The senior citizen league started in 1962 with six teams and 24 bowlers. This year it has a total of 110 persons who comprise 22 teams with 18 registered substitutes.

The only requirement to join the fun-loving group is that women must be 55 years old and men 60, and retired.

Elected to serve as the first president of the league was R. D. Webb, who held the office until this year. He has been bowling periodically since 1927.

Sidney Magness was the first league secretary, followed by Al Mueller who gave up the position at the close of last season.

Officers for 1972-73 elected at the bowling banquet which closed the 1971-72 season in May are Earl Liesman, president, and Ace DaMotte, secretary.

bus transportation, free of charge, the group travels to other cities for match games between other senior citizen leagues.

To add to the enjoyment of the group while on out-of-town trips, the women furnish cakes, cookies or other pastries, and coffee.

As the president, Earl Liesman said, "The best thing about this type of activity is it provides recreation, therapy and good fellowship. These people are congenial and social-minded and enjoy being out of the house and having fun."

Liesman, a relatively new advocate of the game, added, "If more of the retired people would engage in some kind of recreation they would be surprised how much better they would feel."

Scheduled competitive meets for this fall season will include a match with Alton Senior Citizens at Bowlhaven on Oct. 23 and one on Nov. 6 at Northland Bowl in St. Louis County.

One of the most interesting visits is to take place at Carrollton Bowl in St. Louis on Dec. 3, where they have automatic score equipment. It will be a return engagement and the Alton Senior Citizens will join the two leagues in tournament play.

A change in attitudes of retirees is prevalent nationwide with more and more senior citizens taking an active part in clubs, sports and programs of interest that some of them never had the time to enjoy prior to retiring.

Each year the teams are formed by drawing names in a manner by which no man and his wife are members of the same team. Averages are taken into account with no one team having all high or low average members.

"In this way," everyone has an equal chance in the competition and will meet new people," said the president. Many of the keglers are involved in three leagues every week.

Mrs. Frieda Jeans holds the high woman's average with 147 and Mrs. Peggy Gibbons rolled the high series of 484. Three of the ladies are tied for high single game of 179. They are Mrs. Lena Scarborough, Mrs. Connie Davis and Mrs. Nadine Davis.

Vince Brinkman has captured all three divisions with the men, attaining a 170 high average; 258 high single game and 593 high series.

A couple that has the most combined years in bowling is Ace and Maudie DaMotte who have been actively bowling for a combined 70 years. He began his bowling career in 1927 and Mrs. DaMotte started 25 years ago.

They continue to bowl in three separate leagues each week. Until two years ago, he continued to travel to the out-of-town tournaments as an individual keglers and as a member of a competitive team.

With the realization that these people, who have earned a time when they no longer must work, but for the most part are on a

Enlistments Open

In U. S. Coast Guard

Vacancies will be open in this area during October, November and December for enlistment in the U. S. Coast Guard, it was announced this week by the United States Coast Guard Recruiting Service at 915 Olive St., St. Louis.

Radarman Chief Edwin W. Rademan, recruiting officer, said men between the ages of 17 and 26 are invited to explore the opportunities in the smallest branch of the Armed Forces.

"Now that the time is approaching when many young men are undecided whether their future will be, or they are not satisfied with their present job I would like to call to their attention the many advantages of a career in the U. S. Coast Guard," he said. The term of enlistment for an applicant is four years and is effected in the rate of seaman recruit.

Upon completion of basic training the enlistee automatically is advanced to the next pay grade which is seaman apprentice.

Recruits are trained at the Coast Guard Training Center, Alameda, Calif., and are given the opportunity to qualify for specialized training in such fields as electronics, radio, mechanics, photography, clerical, radar and marine science.

Recruit training includes small boat handling, deck seamanship, small arms and ordnance indoctrination, communications, fire fighting, life saving and military etiquette.

The new guidelines make it illegal for anyone who changes precincts after Tuesday to vote Nov. 7.

Monday is the last day for transfer of registration and is the first day for civilian voters to file applications for absentee ballots. Questions concerning registration and voting should be directed to the county clerk's office at 1-636-1416.

New Tax Forms May Allow More Take-Home Wages

More than 80,000 employers in central and southern Illinois have received a newly designed Form W-4, "Employee's Withholding Certificate," from the IRS, district director for central and southern Illinois, has announced.

The IRS has revised Form W-4 to make it more understandable to employees and thereby encourage them to adjust their tax withholding. Mr. Green said, "In most cases these adjustments will result in increased take-home pay."

The new Form W-4 being sent to business firms is part of an information packet which includes a letter to chief payroll officers and a notice to employees from Commissioner of Internal Revenue Johnnie M. Walters.

The letter to payroll officers emphasizes to employers that although new withholding rules have been in effect since early this year, many employees have not filed Forms W-4 to claim the allowances to which they are entitled.

Ethno-musicology as Culture Cited at SIUE

Charlotte J. Frisbie, assistant professor of anthropology at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, is pursuing her professional interest in ethno-musicology as editor of the Ethno-Musicology Newsletter, a publication of the national Society for Ethno-Musicology.

"Ethno-musicology is the study of music in culture — it's a combination of anthropology and music," she said.

Mrs. Frisbie said her discipline is "another way of understanding cultural systems. Music is an aspect of culture, it's part of our lives, it's a universal that man shares with every other man around the world. Anthropologists are interested in these universals," she said.

"A lot of people are attracted to ethno-musicology just by hearing sounds they consider strange or weird, because they don't know what they mean, like the instruments of South India," she said.

Although no courses are offered at SIUE in ethno-musicology, Mrs. Frisbie said the Lovejoy Library has an excellent collection of records and instruments which could provide the resources for formal course-work. She said she is hopeful the course will eventually be offered.

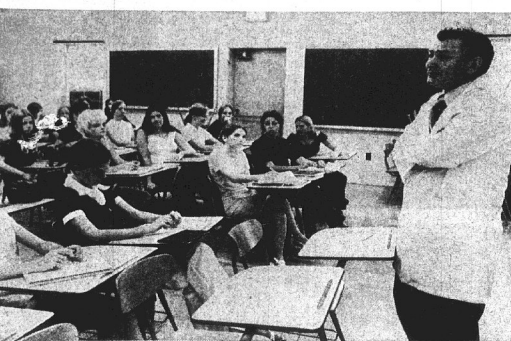

Mrs. Frisbie was originally trained as a musician — she sings and plays the violin, piano, flute and organ. She said she was always interested in Indians, which led her to do graduate work at Wesleyan University, Ohio, in ethno-musicology. She received her Ph.D. in anthropology from the University of New Mexico.

She accepted the editorship of the Ethno-Musicology Newsletter earlier this year. "The Newsletter is the vehicle of the society through which the members keep in touch," she said, "not only with what students in the field are doing, but various research projects, field work in progress, and that sort of thing." Her editorship is in addition to her teaching and other responsibilities at SIUE.

She and her husband, who is also on the anthropology faculty at SIUE, live in Edwardsville.

Wesleyan Homecoming Events Start Friday

The official day for Homecoming at Illinois Wesleyan University is Oct. 14, but events planned by the student homecoming committee will start as early as tomorrow.

Headed by chairman Jane Legg, Normal, the committee has scheduled a program that combines the traditional events with innovations.

The traditional activities include the football game against Millikin University at 1:30 p.m. Oct. 14, the parade at 10 a.m., the concert at 8 p.m., house decorations, the Homecoming play, "Cabaret!", which opens Oct. 12, and election of a Homecoming queen.

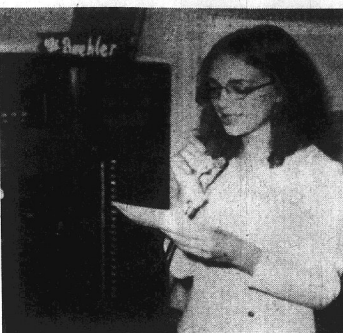

One new event that should bring back memories to some alumni will be a dance marathon patterned after the contests that were popular in the 1920's. The marathon will begin at 10 p.m. Friday in Memorial Student Center and is expected to continue until Sunday. A battle of the bands, open to area organizations, will be held in the student center at 8 p.m. the same day.

The Homecoming Queen will be crowned during the Titan games and pep rally at Wesleyan Stadium on the evening of Oct. 13. Dr. Dwight Drexler, professor of piano who has been named Grand Marshal of the parade, will crown the queen.

Alumni activities will be concentrated on the Oct. 14 date. A huge tent on the campus quadrangle will serve as headquarters. A reunion breakfast will be held at 9 a.m. on the outdoor terrace of the student center and a barbecue will be held in the tent, starting at 11:30 a.m. Refreshments will be served in the tent after the football game.

Alumni who were members of Wesleyan's famed Collegiate Choir during their campus days will hold a reunion at 5 p.m. in Presser Hall, and Alpha Tau Delta, national professional fraternity for women in nursing, will hold its annual reception in E. M. Stevenson Hall at 4 p.m.

Since World War II, college fraternities have been welcomed more than 200 new colleges and universities in the United States and Canada.

STUDENT COUNCIL ANNOUNCER. For the first and last time at Central Junior High School this year, Student Council members are making daily morning announcements to the study body. The 57-year-old public address system will be in use for the last year as Central will be closed in June. Announcer here is Kay Murray, eighth-grade Student Council representative.

Fall Enrollment at Eastern Down by 183

Eastern Illinois University's 1972 fall quarter enrollment was officially announced today at 8,607, down 183 (2.1%) from last fall's 8,790.

The enrollment showed a decrease in only one category — students here last quarter. "First time in college," "transfer students," and "former students returning" — all showed increases over the comparable period for 1971.

University officials attributed the drop to the fact that summer enrollment for 1972 was down about 800 from the peak of 1971. The other major categories — "first time in college," "transfer students," and "former students returning" — all showed increases over the comparable period for 1971.

President Gilbert C. Fite said, "Despite the fact that the overall enrollment is down somewhat, we are encouraged that the figures show an increase in all three of the 'admittee' categories. This is especially welcome at a time when a number of economic and other factors are working against the ever-higher enrollment increases we have known in the past."

McKendree, City Plan Public Fall Festival

McKendree College students will hold a public fall festival and carnival on campus Oct. 27-29 to raise funds for campus organizations and for the college, according to Mike Schleyer, president of the Student Government Association.

There will be seven or eight carnival type rides, 15-20 booths and a free sock-hop dance. Schleyer said, with more activities still in the planning stage.

Lebanon organizations will be invited to set up their booths on campus, too, Schleyer said. He said he hopes to see the McKendree College Fall Festival become an annual event uniting the towns and the students in a common activity.

The booths will include games and food, ranging from chili dogs and hamburger to other sandwiches and hot and cold drinks. Booths will be operated by college and Lebanon organizations which will keep part of the proceeds, and pay a portion to the student government. When the totals are added, Schleyer said, the student government will see what it can do that will be of permanent value to the college — perhaps a scholarship program, he said.

On Oct. 27, a Friday, the hours will be 4 to 10 p.m.; on Oct. 28, Saturday, noon to 10 p.m.; on Sunday, Oct. 29, from noon to 8 p.m.

The principal purpose is to involve the student body in a community-related activity, Schleyer said. "But of course we want to make money, too."

Tau Kappa Epsilon, the largest fraternity, has more than 17,500 student members in 306 campus chapters — more than 100,000 initiates.

East-West to Limit Development Through Control of Land Use, Transit, Sewers, Housing, Parks

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, regional planning body for the St. Louis bi-state metropolitan area, last week formally adopted the following position on areawide planning.

The fundamental question to be resolved in urban planning at the metropolitan scale is how to influence the development and redevelopment of the region in achievement of certain regional goals, and at the same time preserve the goals and objectives of governmental bodies at the other scales of planning activity.

A step toward resolving this question consists of attempting to fit together the various scales of planning activity in the region into some total approach aimed at maximizing efficiency, productivity and a high quality of planning in the light of the finite amount of resources available for planning.

Planning in the region is being done at a variety of scales, including municipal or city, county, multi-county, sub-regional and regional or "areawide."

Although the general levels of these various types of agencies is relatively obvious, there is a considerable overlap between the scales of planning adjacent to one another in the hierarchy.

This overlap has historically produced, and could potentially lead to, competition between agencies regarding the use of federal planning funds in undertaking various projects.

As a step toward obviating conflicts of interest and competition for its planning funds, the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has asked the Council, in its capacity as the federally designated "areawide" planning organization (APO), to define the term "areawide" and thereby explicitly define the role of each agency in the region with respect to all the other agencies, and with HUD.

The purpose of this paper is to first generally identify the scope or subject matter of areawide planning, and then to make some specific statements of planning responsibility in the functional areas of land use, transportation, water and sewer, housing and open space and recreation.

In addition, a series of policies will be proposed, aimed at effectuating coordination and cooperation in planning efforts in the region, and implementing areawide planning.

Scope of Areawide Planning

When cities and suburbs were physically separated by forest or farm land, the problems of these urban places—such as transportation, water, supply, sewage and refuse disposal, and the use of land for new development—could be solved on a local basis.

There was room for excess and, if plans were not made well in advance, people were or would be affected. But as these cities and villages expanded in size, reducing or eliminating buffers of space between them increasingly numerous people and problems, the need was evident for solutions that considered the common problems, the differing goals, and the general well-being of all who lived in the region.

The concept of planning for sound and orderly development of individual cities and villages has been widely accepted and is generally successful. However, the accretion of such individual plans designed to attain local objectives cannot be a logical and coherent regional plan in a metropolitan area comprised of many municipalities.

In the absence of the expression of a regional point of view, good plans for one part of the region are uncoordinated and sometimes even contradictory. Plans for another part of the same urban complex.

Furthermore, there are a host of problems which are beyond the scope of authority of the local planning units.

And it is increasingly evident that the critical issues of urban living today are deeply rooted in these areawide problems.

The scope of planning as defined above, therefore, is coordinated of local plans to insure against conflicts that may arise between them—and planning for the systems or functions which are beyond the ability or authority of local planning agencies.

Among the elements of planning and coordination which qualify as being partially beyond the authority or ability of these governments are land use, transportation, water and sewer, housing, and open space and recreation.

Although areawide planning is not strictly limited to these elements, it is felt that they are most significant.

Planning for these elements is planning for physical facilities of urban support systems which are skeletal in nature (i.e., for the most part they give a framework which most other activities cluster).

These support systems are also relatively permanent in nature, and represent a long-term commitment in terms of both public expenditure and the quality of living environment available to the region's citizens.

In addition, it is these elements which can be used in influencing the direction and rate of development in the region.

It is this last feature which enables regional planning to rationalize local planning into some regional strategy of growth.

Areawide planning Responsibility

Following is an analysis by functional planning category of the level of planning responsibility that the Council anticipates using in fulfilling its obligation as the areawide planning organization for St. Louis.

It should be pointed out beforehand that the concern of the areawide agency in these functional areas extends through the entire planning process—including inventory and analysis, goal formulation, development of alternative plans, selection of a plan and implementation.

Land use. Land use planning is done at a number of levels, or scales, most notably for site, neighborhood, community, county and regional planning.

Each of these levels of land use planning is done at a specific scale and incorporates its own degree of detail in both land use objectives and the graphic statement of policies (map).

As the only certified regional planning agency for the total metropolitan area, the East-West Council is concerned with determining land use requirements within general categories for the entire region, and through the land use plan—allocating these land requirements throughout the region.

The basis for this allocation will be the objective goals and policies of the Land Use Plan as they are adopted by the Council.

Future allocation of land will be made in the form of general quantities and densities of use within various types of service areas of relatively homogeneous characteristics throughout the region.

Service areas are defined as regions of homogeneous areas in terms of land use intensity, requiring a given level of transportation, water and sewer, and other services.

Within a given service area there may be a mix of localized densities and land uses which, taken as an aggregate, require a given level of services.

These service areas, as defined by the Council, may conform generally in size to the planning districts used by the appropriate planning agencies.

And within these areas, as mentioned above, general ranges of land use mixtures (e.g., 75% residential) and intensity (e.g., gross density of 4.0 d.u./acre) will be indicated.

Local agencies will be responsible for defining the more specific requirements of land use patterns and intensities throughout the area for which the Council has made specifications.

In addition, site planning, zoning subdivision and building regulations—as well as the specific arrangements of land use—will be the responsibility of local planning.

TRANSPORTATION

Areawide planning for transportation will be concerned with planning and application review for highways and other transit facilities and services which carry flows of goods and people beyond the limits of local political boundaries, or between this region and other parts of the U. S.

The areawide agency is also concerned with the interfacing of local and sub-regional systems with the larger transport systems of which they are a part.

The types of facilities encountered in the above definition area:

—Port facilities and terminals including parking terminals, airports, water ports, rail terminals, including for all their location, capacity and impact upon adjacent land use, the economy and development patterns.

—Mass and/or rapid transit services and facilities, including buses, rapid rail-like mass transit and any other forms of intra-regional public transport not limited to a single governmental unit (in a geographic sense).

—Interstates, freeways, expressways, major arterials and certain collectors which carry flows of traffic between various portions of the region. Not including local streets and other paths which, due to their function, serve only traffic which does not have a normally inter-jurisdictional flow.

Areawide planning for water and sewer is concerned with planning and application review for the location, size and extent of water supply purification and distribution systems; and the location, size and extent of wastewater collection, treatment and disposal systems.

In addition, storm sewer, flood control and solid waste disposal are areawide concerns.

The level of detail of the areawide agency is defined for water and sewer planning in relation to the following: local municipalities or counties and multi-county agencies.

Service areas of local municipality and county, where local plans are being done, coordination and adjustment of all local plans are to serve as an input to the regional water and sewer system plan.

Where local plans are not being done, the Council is to encourage the preparation of local area water and sewer plans.

Regarding multi-county agency, the areawide agency is responsible for the coordination of and planning as necessary for local water and sewer systems in all multi-county areas in the region.

Contracted services, and any other planning not done by funds contracted through the Council, will be consistent—as great an extent as possible—with the objectives, policies, methodologies and schedules of the areawide agency.

Housing

The areawide agency will be concerned with preparing a sub-regional housing plan and other elements of the housing planning process at the regional level, and notably:

—Maintaining housing inventory records.

—Determining regional housing needs for the region as a total.

—Allocating, within ranges of density and geographical locations, areas for future residential development.

—Coordination of all housing and residential development with other functional elements of the Comprehensive Plan.

—Evaluation and A-95 Review of all federally-funded low-income and middle-income housing proposals to determine if they:

1. Serve to meet the housing needs of the region in general, as determined by the housing plan.

2. Will not cause a negative impact upon other parts of the region.

3. Conform with the objectives of the Land Use Plan with respect to the environment, location and density.

—Maintaining the flow of federal housing assistance for low- and moderate-income into the region by retaining certification for areawide planning by HUD.

OPEN SPACE AND RECREATION

The scope of responsibility for Metropolitan and Regional Park planning consists of preparing a Metropolitan Park Plan dealing with the following aspects of recreation:

—Amount or number of facilities in relation to population.

—Location.

—Nature and characteristics of facilities.

—Relationship to adjacent land uses.

—Development of standards.

—Other elements of the recreational planning process.

The areawide agency will be concerned with planning for a metropolitan system of parks and open space, the component of which meet most of the following requirements:

Usually 100 acres or more in size.

A collection of facilities that will attract users from many parts of the region, or facilities that would normally be provided by local parks (camping, hiking, fishing, boating, riding).

Facilities which take advantage of natural or physical resources not contained in all jurisdictions in the region (rivers, lakes, forest, etc.).

Facilities located so as to be accessible to a large portion of the region's population.

Facilities must be on permanent or dedicated land (requirement).

Public or semi-public facility (requirement).

The Council, in its capacity as the federally-designated regional clearinghouse, is also required to conduct project reviews as specified by Circular A-95 of the U. S. Office of Management and Budget.

The term areawide, therefore, is also understood to include the collection of information in sufficient detail to make meaningful project reviews, even if this level of detail is not required for doing areawide planning.

COORDINATION AND IMPLEMENTATION POLICIES

The task of making sure that the good local plans that are being done throughout the region do not conflict with each other and with the regional skeletal systems that pass through the region is basically a task of coordination.

Hence, any statement of the areawide responsibilities of the Council must address the question of how the Council will attempt to coordinate its activities of the local areas in the region, and the planning activities of the local area with each other.

Included in this section, therefore, is a series of policies for coordination between agencies, and implementation of a regional planning process.

The following list suggests a series of policies the Council can adopt in working toward a closer coordination of planning efforts in the region, and the elimination of potential conflict over the allocation of planning funds.

a. Common goals and objectives—Comprehensive and functional planning bodies should adopt goals and objectives with the Council.

b. Common data bases and forecasts—The Council and other planning bodies, including state, should all use the same bases for the collection of data, and the same forecasts for population, employment, etc.

c. Preparation of consistent or unified work program—Overall program designs of all general and special purpose planning agencies should be reviewed and adjusted for development of a regional-oriented work program.

d. Development committee—Establish a Development Committee consisting of the planning directors to act in an advisory capacity to the Council staff and their representatives on the board.

e. Plan review—Require a review and coordination from the regional level, both during and after preparation, of general and special-purpose plans being prepared in the region.

f. Liaison personnel—Establish liaison personnel from the Council staff who will, as part of their responsibilities, work with local agencies and jurisdictions throughout the region in order to establish an interchange of regional and local perspectives.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., Oct. 5, 1972 Page 33

g. State cooperation—Seek coordination and cooperation of state administrative processes in support of metropolitan planning, such as stimulating metropolitan regional review of state projects in the area.

h. Local planning agency participation—The areawide agency will encourage data collection and, when feasible, planning at the local, county or multi-county levels as inputs to areawide plans.

This planning and data collection will be coordinated and monitored by the Council to insure consistency with regional planning objectives.

Billboards Will Disappear, If Work Crews Get to It

By JOAN MURARO
Capitol News Staff

Springfield—Motorists in Illinois may be able to see the scenery along major routes next summer, instead of endless miles of billboards touting motels, mayonaisse and the Messiah.

At least they'll be able to, if transportation department crews can get to the removal process before their busy season starts about March.

The way was cleared to start the removal process when the deadline for registering signboards passed Sept. 28. Arch Blackard, of the right of way acquisition section of the department, said staff were on hand until midnight in all district offices and the Springfield headquarters on the deadline day.

As the staff expected—or feared—they were swamped with last minute applications, though sign owners had had since last July 1 to register if they wished compensation for signs which will have to come down under the state's new billboard law.

So many last minute applications came in, Blackard said, that the staff still hasn't had time to tally the numbers and the next step of implementing the new law probably will be somewhat delayed.

Blackard expects now that it will be the first of November before all signed up sign owners receive the metal tags they must affix prominently to their signboards, showing they are registered and if they are conforming or non-conforming.

Must Be Inspected
The owners will have 60 days after they actually receive the tags, to attach them. Each registered sign will have to be inspected in the field, he said, to be sure the application is correct and the proper tag is sent.

Next will come more field work, starting about the first of the year, to inventory unregistered signs.

Wherever possible, the owners of unregistered signs will be notified in writing that the sign must be removed within 30 days. If they want to keep it. After the 30 days, department crews will start taking them down. Blackard said he hopes the crews will be able to start, statewide, on the removals by February. If they can, he said, he would expect all the unregistered signs to be gone from roadsides on all federal aid primary and interstate highways before next summer.

Next July 1, the department will begin negotiating with owners of signs which are registered but do not meet requirements of the new law and will have to be removed. These owners, and the owners of land on which the sign was located, will be paid compensation. Unregistered signs will come down with no compensation to anyone.

Disposal Problem
What the department is going to do with the signs once they've been removed still hasn't been decided, Blackard said, but added that if most individual owners of a few small signs, and keep them, and dispose of the signs themselves, the anticipated disposal problem may not occur.

Large commercial sign companies, he said, may choose to remove their big, well-constructed signs and erect them elsewhere, in compliance with the new regulations, or to cannibalize them for maintenance of other, conforming signs.

Under the new law, signs will be regulated as to size, type, lighting and placement along the affected routes, and most will be barred from being closer than 660 feet to the right of way.

$64,585 Values Listed in 41 GC Building Permits

Forty-one building permits listing values totaling $64,585 were issued for new construction in Granite City during September.

It was one of the lightest months in several years, as two of the largest projects involved demolition of buildings—the Niedringhaus Methodist Church at a cost of $20,000 and the old First National bank building at $15,000.

The August totals were 46 permits at $260,040, while in September of last year, 61 permits listed values totaling $434,460, based mostly on new homes.

The September activity included one home, $7,000; three additions, $7,200; 13 garages and carports, $20,410; 17 for remodeling and repairs, $15,065; five for commercial purposes, $5,800; and two mobile homes, $9,000. There were three razing permits showing demolition costs of $35,250.

Permits issued during the last week of the month were obtained by:

John Sobol Realty, a temporary modular home display at 1515 Pontoon Road, $7,000; Cycle Products, 1908 State St., enclosure office, $500; Henry Metcalfe, 3440 Lydia Lane, cover on patio, $500.

For garages: Don Williams, 2209 Cardinal Ave., $1,260; Steven Barzoffi, 2632 Center St., addition, $1,000; William Hamilton, 2325 Waterman Ave., two-car, $1,800; Norvel Cooper, 2808 Harding Blvd., $2,000; Perry Werner, 2809 Pershing Ave., $2,400; and Evelyn Myint, 2003 Richmond Ave., $1,800.

Window shopping is fun and doesn't cost any money. Take a close look at windows this week and you might find something extra. You might even find something you like.

October 1-7 is National 4-H Week and 4-H clubs in Madison County have been working hard to tell their 4-H stories. As a result, 24 of the 58 clubs in the county will have window displays to tell the public about their organization.

4-H is the youth phase of the Cooperative Extension Service. It is a youth organization that offers many challenging opportunities for youth between the ages of 9 and 19. More than 100 projects and activities are offered to youngsters on a farm or in a city.

Scouts to Test Skills at Lake Carlyle Camporee

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

Have you ever tried to move an object 25 yards by means of an "isotope thungahoboy" or been asked to identify eight species of our ecological household and look for and identify two instances in which the ecology has been abused?

If you want to see how its done, then you are invited to visit the Cahokia Mound Council Camporee to be held Oct. 13, 14 and 15 at the Hazlett State Park on Lake Carlyle, according to Dr. Thomas Layloff Jr., camporee chairman.

Over 500 Scouts from the southern half of Madison County and all of Bond County are expected to take part in "L'Expedition D'Automne," which translated from French means "The Fall Expedition."

The emphasis will be on Scout patrol activities and skills similar to the Camp Sunnen program. Patrols will be judged on their camp sites and cooking ability. Cleanliness and neatness will be the watchwords on mess gear and attire, according to Dr. Layloff.

Patrols are being asked to cook on cratcoals due to a lack of wood available for that many Scouts in the park.

On Saturday, Oct. 14, the Scouts will hike about two miles and cook a foil-type lunch.

The day also will be filled with skill activities based on the new Scout handbook and other events frequently held at Camp Sunnen.

In addition to the Ecology Trail and the "Hot Isotope" events, Scouts will be tested in the use of a compass, physical fitness and first aid.

A fun campfire will be held Saturday beginning at 8:30 p.m. under the direction of J. Richard Hooks, Venice, cochairman of the camporee and camp director at Camp Sunnen. The public is invited to visit the campfire, Hooks said.

Catholic Services

Scouts of Catholic faith will have the opportunity to attend a field mass conducted by Father George M. Tipton S.J., Professor of Chemistry and Director of Pre-Medical Studies at St. Louis University.

A joint Protestant service also will be held, and Scouts may attend the churches in Carlyle.

Several Explorer Posts will assist with the event as judges. Members of the council activities committee helping Layloff and Hooks are Norman Kinder Jr., G. Rollin Henn and John Pekarik, all of Granite City; Jack Vance and Dave Mindrup of Edvansville, and Gary Livingston of Highland.

Scouts Must Register

Scout Troops must pre-register for the camporee at the Boy Scout Service Center, 1338A Niedringhaus Ave., Granite City, Ill. before 5 p.m. on Oct. 11.

Every Scout and leader attending the camp will be given a six color camporee emblem. Ribbons will be awarded patrols for achieving certain standards of camping skills and performance in the Scout events.

W. F. "Mick" Strange, of Madison, is the Council Activities Chairman.

Junior Achievement Center Opens Monday

The Granite City Junior Achievement Center, 3307 Washburn Ave., will open for business Monday evening.

About 400 Quad-City area high school students will form 14 miniature production companies and a bank. They will sell stock to finance the organization of their companies which will produce and market a variety of items among area residents.

The achiever companies will redeem the stock and pay dividends to shareholders at the end of a 30-week season.

Advising teams from Illinois Power Co., A. O. Smith Corp., General Steel Industries, Granite City Steel Co., American Steel Foundries and Southwest Bell Telephone Co. will work with the high school students.

First Granite City National Bank personnel will assist achievers in providing full-service banking to the JA manufacturing companies.

The achiever companies will be in operation on Monday through Thursday nights. Zene Gergen is manager of the local business center which is affiliated with Junior Achievement of Mississippi Valley, coordinator for all facets in the operation of 300 miniature companies and 7,000 students in the greater metropolitan area.

Junior Achievement is a nationwide program for teenagers which enables them to grow in knowledge of private enterprise through the operation of their own miniature corporations. Financial support for JA comes from individuals and corporations interested in providing teens with a first-hand look at business and its challenges.

3rd GC Brother Enters Service; Selects Navy

Michael Eugene Wood, 2305 Paul Ave., husband of the former Miss Nancy Marsala, has enlisted in the U. S. Navy and will depart Tuesday for the Great Lakes Naval Station at Great Lakes, Ill., to begin boot training. The couple has a daughter, Angela K. Aye, 11 months.

Wood, 18, is a son of Mrs. Louise Atwood, 2245 Delmar Ave. He has a brother, Army Specialist Five Jack Julian Wood, who has been stationed on Okinawa the past 12 months. With him at the overseas base is his wife, the former Miss Jeanie Milacoe of Granite City.

Spec. 5 Wood, 23, previously served with the U. S. Marine Corps in Vietnam. He returned to civilian life for eight months and was married before enlisting in the U. S. Army.

Today, the soldier starts a five-year extended tour of duty in the service, his mother said. He is expected to remain at the Okinawa base about four years, she added.
